Steel Contract Points to Long Vacation Trend

2 Months Off Yearly Seen Coming If Pact Is Adopted Generally

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — Considerably longer vacations for American workers generally can be expected if the terms of the new steel labor settlement are limited in other industries—as they usually are.

The steel pact, ratified over the weekend, extends worker vacations to the point that in a few years it will be a common thing for a veteran steel industry employee to take two months off every year at full pay.

Longer vacations will mean not only more leisure time but will mean more jobs will be opened to fill the places of vacationing workers. This has enormous implications for resorts, the travel industry, adult education and everything that has to do with recreation and self-improvement.

Negotiators for the 11 major steel companies arranged to meet with separate Steelworkers' Union bargaining teams today to translate the economic terms agreed upon Saturday into individual contracts. They hope to get finished for signing ceremonies next Friday.

Besides the new vacation benefits, described by union President David J. McDonald as a major breakthrough in collective bargaining, the settlement calls for improved pensions, layoff benefits, grievance procedures, seniority and minimum weekly pay guarantees.

President Kennedy warmly praised the union and industry for meeting his appeal for an early and responsible agreement.

The new steel pact provides no immediate pay increase for the 450,000 workers in the basic steel industry already averaging $3.28 an hour. But the contracts can be reopened at any time after Aug. 1, 1963, for renegotiation of pay rates, pensions, insurance and other matters.

The basic settlement is for two years, but some features were buttoned down for longer periods. Vacations and layoff pay provisions, for example, are not subject to change at least until 1965.

Besides increasing regular vacations, the new terms provide for a special vacation bonus of one week for every two years worked after 1960. This means that a worker of 18 years seniority now getting a three-week vacation will be getting eight weeks off per year seven years hence.

The agreement was reached three months ahead of the June 30 expiration of present contracts. The industry said it was the most moderate in years and the first achieved without a strike since 1954.

One-Car Crash Injures Two

Two Chillicothe area men were taken to Berger Hospital early today and later transferred to the Chillicothe Hospital following a one-car crash on Route 22, about three miles east of Circleville.

State Patrolmen said the driver of the car, John D. Cowens, 31, Route 1, Chillicothe, suffered contusions of the elbows. Oliver Parker, 31, also of Route 1, Chillicothe, a passenger, received contusions of the forehead and complained of neck and back injuries.

According to a Patrol spokesman, the accident was at 3:30 a. m. when the auto went off the right side of the highway, across the road to the left side and back again to the right side where it crashed into an embankment. Cowens told officers that he fell asleep. He was cited for reckless operation.

Patrolmen said damage to the vehicle was heavy.

Consumer Getting Selective, Is Demanding More Courtesy

CLEVELAND (AP)—The United States economy is definitely on the upswing, but the consumers could do more than they are doing to help it along, Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges said today.

Here to address a luncheon of the American Industrial Development Council, Hodges said at a news conference the consumers are getting "very selective and sophisticated" in their purchases.

"They have the money," he said. "Their gross personal income increased by $20 billion last year while their debt was increased by only $2 billion."

The secretary said business men could help in changing the consumers' attitude.

"One reason the consumer is not buying as he might is that he is not getting from business the service and courtesy to which he is entitled," Hodges said. "I have tested this at least 50 times recently and found it to be so. It is a situation that prevails throughout the country."

Secretary Hodges' comments coincides with a similar outlook which has come under discussion in Circleville during the last few days. Some local spokesmen contend poor parking facilities are a major factor here, while others say more selective merchandising and better business practices are needed.

In response to a question, Hodges said he did not think that steel producers would need a general price increase as a result of the settlement with the United Steelworkers Union announced Saturday.

Pointing out that the settlement was non-inflationary, he said "if they didn't need a price increase last week I don't see why they would need one now." He added that he expected business to "hold up rather well" as a result of the settlement.

Commenting on an accusation by Teamsters President James R. Hoffa that the administration interfered in the steel negotiations in what he called a "political maneuver," Hodges said:

"Anything that would make Mr. Hoffa unhappy would make us (the administration) happy."

The American Industrial Development Council opened a three-day conference today aimed at exploring American business problems in a rapidly changing space age. The first day's program was devoted largely to speeches.

Road Death Toll Called Alarming

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Multiple-death traffic accidents littered highways and streets with an alarming number of dead and injured over the weekend. Thirteen of the deaths were in Ohio.

A total of 61 died in 16 accidents, most of them teen-agers and young college students.

Eight persons were killed in a single Canadian accident Sunday. They were occupants of a car struck by a train at a crossing east of Drummondville, Que.

Six youths, ranging in age from 16 to 21, were killed near Modesto, Calif., Sunday in the flaming head-on crash of two autos. Two others were seriously injured.

State highway patrol officers said a car driven by Jake Green, 17, of Modesto swerved at high speed and slammed into one driven by Darryl A. Borges, 21, of Gustine, Calif.

Near Jacksonville, Fla., five coeds from Duke University were killed Sunday when their convertible spun out of control on rain-soaked U.S. 17 and careened into two semi-trailer trucks.

The five, all graduating nursing students, were returning to the North Carolina school after spending the spring holidays in Miami and Fort Lauderdale, where thousands of college students congregated annually.

Five persons were killed in a collision at Hebron, Wis., Friday night.

Four youngsters ranging in age from 15 to 18 died Sunday when their car was struck by a fast-moving train on the main street of tiny Luverne, N.D. A fifth teen-ager was critically injured.

Four teen-aged girls were killed and four of their companions were critically injured Sunday when one car plowed into the rear of another near Livermore, Calif.

Four other young persons died near Marshall, Tex., Sunday when their car veered off U.S. 80 and overturned in a creek. The dead were trapped in the auto, which passersby found submerged with only the four tires showing above the water.

Near Riverside, Calif., a car hit a concrete abutment on the Riverside freeway Sunday, killing four persons, including three members of one family.

Four persons, including boys aged 5 and 14 years, were killed in a collision near Mount Vernon, Ohio, Friday night. Police said one car apparently rolled over the top of a second one and landed upside down on the opposite side.

Near Gas City, Ind., Ralph Walser, 22, his wife and their infant daughter, of Jonesboro, Ind., were killed Saturday night when their car was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train.

Three men died Saturday night in a head-on collision on U.S. 24 in central Illinois. Near Riverton, Wyo., Sunday, Wesley E. Bryant, 35, of Riverton, his son and another boy were killed in a head-on collision on a straight, open stretch of highway.

Two persons died in each of three separate accidents late Saturday — at Ephrata, Wash.; near Wynnewood in southern Oklahoma and at Washington, Md. Two elderly persons were fatally injured Sunday in a two-car collision near Fulton, N.Y.

Wealthy Texan Seeks Freedom

Multimillionaire Held On Fraud Accusation

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Hopes of multimillionaire Billie Sol Estes to go free from jail apparently rested on a federal court appearance today.

An associate said he was confident, however, that Estes' $500,000 bond could be raised if a plea for lower bail was unavailing.

Estes and three other businessmen are charged with conspiring to take fraudulent chattel mortgages from one state to another.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Wayne Speck told newsmen the government would oppose any reduction of bond when Estes goes before U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason.

Officers drove Estes to El Paso Sunday from Pecos, where he had been held since Friday night. The 37-year-old prisoner ignored questions from newsmen.

An addition to the mushrooming troubles of Estes was suspension of the state grain warehouse license held by one of his firms, United Elevators, Inc., at Lamesa, Tex.

The three men charged with Estes, all officials of Superior Manufacturing Co. of Amarillo, Tex., won release earlier on bonds of $25,000 each.

The arrests followed a two-day conference in Dallas by representatives of a dozen finance companies. A spokesman said these firms found they had loaned about $22 million in West Texas on tanks for anhydrous ammonia, a fertilizer. Estes reportedly is the world's biggest dealer in this commodity.

In quick order, the Texas attorney general sent aides to microfilm records of assorted Estes enterprises; Pacific Finance Co. of Los Angeles sued Estes and others for $4,300,000; the House Government Operations Committee and the Agriculture Department began investigating Estes' affairs, and his private plane was repossessed.

Estimates of Estes' holdings range up to $150 million.

Prosecutor's Pup Involved With Law

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—It had to happen.

Last week Police Chief Harry Hamilton launched an all-out drive here against dog owners who allow their pets to run loose. This followed many years of noting complaints from irate lawn fanciers and an annual spring warning, but never enforcement.

One week later the drive had netted three dachshunds and a pair of non-descript pooches.

Owners were arrested and required to post $15 bonds or appear in Municipal Court before retrieving their pets.

Sixth dog owner, victim of the crackdown who was cited, meekly plunked down his money and streaked off with his dog.

He was Police Prosecutor Thomas D. Badger, one of five men named by the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce as "man of the year."

Envoy Blames 'New Military' Plan for Policy

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin said today the Kremlin has changed its mind about allowing nuclear test ban inspectors on Soviet soil because of new military measures taken by the Soviet Union.

These measures, Zorin told the 17-nation disarmament conference, were prompted by the Berlin situation and the Western military buildup.

He said that was why the Soviets backed away from their former agreement in principle for international control posts to be stationed on Soviet territory to supervise a nuclear test ban treaty.

Now that the Soviet Union has taken these measures to strengthen its defenses, Zorin said, the U.S.S.R. could not have foreigners on its territory. He did not go into detail about the military measures.

Zorin spoke after U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean said the Soviet Union had astounded the world by rejecting the controls it once had agreed were necessary. Dean called on the Soviets for a reversal of the totally unreasonable stand.

Western sources said Zorin's speech took on more of a cold war tone than his previous utterances at the conference.

Zorin reiterated that if the United States carries out nuclear tests in the atmosphere in late April the Soviet Union will be compelled to carry out more tests in turn.

Dean said the West's control requirements had been pared down to a minimum. He rejected Soviet assertions that the control machinery would be used as a cloak for espionage.

The American diplomat reported to the 13th plenary session of the conference on the result of last week's discussion in the subcommittee on nuclear testing. The committee wound up in deadlock with Zorin again refusing to accept international inspection on Soviet territory.

Rocky Aims For Gains in Big Cities

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller turned to his re-election campaign today, armed with a legislative program he is counting on to bring him major gains in vote-rich big cities.

The Republican-controlled New York Legislature, which adjourned Saturday, forged the program for him during its three-month session.

Major developments included enactment of a school-aid program that provided unprecedented help for large cities, a housing program designed chiefly for New York City, creation of an atomic-development authority, increased workmen's compensation benefits and a higher state minimum wage.

To remain as a possibility for 1964 Republican presidential nomination Rockefeller must win the governorship by a decisive margin.

Cities, traditionally, have been the strongholds of the Democratic party in New York State.

Final bills passed in one of the most orderly and efficient closings of the legislature in recent years, included one to increase the salary range for teachers outside of New York City to a minimum of $4,500 and a maximum of $6,800. The range had been $4,200 to $6,200. About 20,000 teachers will be benefited.

Cemetery Strika Ends; 400 Burials Planned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 27-day strike of cemetery workers against 10 major San Francisco Bay area grave yards ended today and the first of 400 halted burials was to proceed.

The union voted Sunday to accept a new three-year contract calling for a total wage increase of $18. Cemetery workers now get $105 a week.

Pro-Nasser Aides Revolt in Syria

CAIRO (AP)—Army officers in northern Syria proclaimed a rebellion today against the Syrian military junta and demanded reunion with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

A broadcast from the pro-Nasser hotbed of Aleppo, Syria's second largest city, indicated the rebels claimed control in the northern and eastern reaches of Syria. There were no reports of renewed fighting after clashes Sunday in various parts of the nation.

The Aleppo claims were ignored in Damascus broadcasts by the junta, which broke with the U.A.R. in an uprising last September and then last week toppled the civilian government it had created.

The junta asserted the army is united in all parts of Syria and warned plotters and exploiters and troublemakers that the general command will take severe punitive measures against them.

In booting out the civilian government, the junta had accused civilian leaders of nullifying land reforms and other measures. It called for a brand of Arab socialism but no reunion with the U.A.R.

But now, apparently under pressure from the uprising in the north, the junta in repeated broadcasts talked vaguely of unity with all Arab countries, including the U.A.R. It seemed to call for some sort of federation, rather than a return to the one-nation setup under which Syria joined Egypt in the U.A.R. in 1958.

Reports from Damascus reaching Beirut, Lebanon, said there had been demonstrations in the Syrian capital this morning before the army banned all gatherings.

The reports added that Syrian army officers were assembling in Damascus to try to reach agreement on some way out of the difficulty.

The broadcast from Aleppo announced a "free officers command" had rebelled against the military junta in Damascus.

Damascus radio said the junta believed in "unity with all liberated Arab countries and first of all with Egypt, provided this unity is built on sound foundations and conditions ensuring the dignity and status of this country (Continued on Page 2)

Washington (AP)—Congress heads into its fourth month today with the Senate scheduled to begin debate on a compromise proposal to provide up to $100 million in American loans to the United Nations.

The loan proposal, accepted by the Kennedy administration as a substitute for a request for authority to purchase a similar amount of U.N. bonds, seemed likely to get early and overwhelming Senate approval.

Kennedy picked up Republican support over the weekend by agreeing to a compromise on legislation to help the United Nations finance its special operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

Previously the administration had supported a measure authorizing the President to purchase $25 million in 25-year, 2 percent interest, U.N. bonds. He could increase these purchases up to $100 million to match subscriptions made by other nations.

Republican leaders had countered with a proposal for a $100 million three-year loan to the United Nations at prevailing interest rates, about 3.5 percent.

But they agreed to a compromise under which the United States could loan up to $100 million to the United Nations, under terms and conditions negotiated by the President.

Presumably, he could set the interest rates at 2 percent and make the loans for 25 years. However, all loans above $25 million would be limited to the amount of bonds purchased or loans made by other nations.

Some resounding practical jokes were on the menu yesterday. One householder on S. Scioto St. is well aware of this.

Witnesses said it exploded and showered blue and orange-red fragments. LaPaz said the fragments probably scattered over sparsely populated mountain country northwest of Los Alamos.

Multiple-death traffic accidents littered highways and streets with an alarming number of dead and injured over the weekend. Thirteen of the deaths were in Ohio.

A total of 61 died in 16 accidents, most of them teen-agers and young college students.

Eight persons were killed in a single Canadian accident Sunday. They were occupants of a car struck by a train at a crossing east of Drummondville, Que.

Six youths, ranging in age from 16 to 21, were killed near Modesto, Calif., Sunday in the flaming head-on crash of two autos. Two others were seriously injured.

State highway patrol officers said a car driven by Jake Green, 17, of Modesto swerved at high speed and slammed into one driven by Darryl A. Borges, 21, of Gustine, Calif.

Near Jacksonville, Fla., five coeds from Duke University were killed Sunday when their convertible spun out of control on rain-soaked U.S. 17 and careened into two semi-trailer trucks.

The five, all graduating nursing students, were returning to the North Carolina school after spending the spring holidays in Miami and Fort Lauderdale, where thousands of college students congregated annually.

Five persons were killed in a collision at Hebron, Wis., Friday night.

Four youngsters ranging in age from 15 to 18 died Sunday when their car was struck by a fast-moving train on the main street of tiny Luverne, N.D. A fifth teen-ager was critically injured.

Four teen-aged girls were killed and four of their companions were critically injured Sunday when one car plowed into the rear of another near Livermore, Calif.

Four other young persons died near Marshall, Tex., Sunday when their car veered off U.S. 80 and overturned in a creek. The dead were trapped in the auto, which passersby found submerged with only the four tires showing above the water.

Near Riverside, Calif., a car hit a concrete abutment on the Riverside freeway Sunday, killing four persons, including three members of one family.

Four persons, including boys aged 5 and 14 years, were killed in a collision near Mount Vernon, Ohio, Friday night. Police said one car apparently rolled over the top of a second one and landed upside down on the opposite side. Near Gas City, Ind., Ralph Walser, 22, his wife and their infant daughter, of Jonesboro, Ind., were killed Saturday night when their car was hit by a Pennsylvania Railroad freight train.

Three men died Saturday night in a head-on collision on U.S. 24 in central Illinois. Near Riverton, Wyo., Sunday, Wesley E. Bryant, 35, of Riverton, his son and another boy were killed in a head-on collision on a straight, open stretch of highway.

Two persons died in each of three separate accidents late Saturday — at Ephrata, Wash.; near Wynnewood in southern Oklahoma and at Washington, Md. Two elderly persons were fatally injured Sunday in a two-car collision near Fulton, N.Y.

Wealthy Texan Seeks Freedom

Multimillionaire Held On Fraud Accusation

EL PASO, Tex. (AP) — Hopes of multimillionaire Billie Sol Estes to go free from jail apparently rested on a federal court appearance today.

An associate said he was confident, however, that Estes' $500,000 bond could be raised if a plea for lower bail was unavailing.

Estes and three other businessmen are charged with conspiring to take fraudulent chattel mortgages from one state to another.

Asst. U.S. Atty. Wayne Speck told newsmen the government would oppose any reduction of bond when Estes goes before U.S. Dist. Judge R. E. Thomason.

Officers drove Estes to El Paso Sunday from Pecos, where he had been held since Friday night. The 37-year-old prisoner ignored questions from newsmen.

An addition to the mushrooming troubles of Estes was suspension of the state grain warehouse license held by one of his firms, United Elevators, Inc., at Lamesa, Tex.

The three men charged with Estes, all officials of Superior Manufacturing Co. of Amarillo, Tex., won release earlier on bonds of $25,000 each.

The arrests followed a two-day conference in Dallas by representatives of a dozen finance companies. A spokesman said these firms found they had loaned about $22 million in West Texas on tanks for anhydrous ammonia, a fertilizer. Estes reputedly is the world's biggest dealer in this commodity.

In quick order, the Texas attorney general sent aides to microfilm records of assorted Estes enterprises; Pacific Finance Co. of Los Angeles sued Estes and others for $4,300,000; the House Government Operations Committee and the Agriculture Department began investigating Estes' affairs, and his private plane was repossessed.

Estimates of Estes' holdings range up to $150 million.

Prosecutor's Pup Involved with Law

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—It had to happen.

Last week Police Chief Harry Hamilton launched an all-out drive here against dog owners who allow their pets to run loose. This followed many years of noting complaints from irate lawn fanciers and an annual spring warning, but never enforcement.

One week later the drive had netted three dachshunds and a pair of non-descript pooches.

Owners were arrested and required to post $15 bonds or appear in Municipal Court before retrieving their pets.

Sixth dog owner, victim of the crackdown who was cited, meekly plunked down his money and streaked off with his dog.

He was Police Prosecutor Thomas D. Badger, one of five men named by the Ohio Junior Chamber of Commerce as "man of the year."

Envoy Blames 'New Military' Plan for Policy

GENEVA (AP) — Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin said today the Kremlin has changed its mind about allowing nuclear test ban inspectors on Soviet soil because of new military measures taken by the Soviet Union.

These measures, Zorin told the 17-nation disarmament conference, were prompted by the Berlin situation and the Western military buildup.

He said that was why the Soviets backed away from their former agreement in principle for international control posts to be stationed on Soviet territory to supervise a nuclear test ban treaty.

Now that the Soviet Union has taken these measures to strengthen its defenses, Zorin said, the U.S.S.R. could not have foreigners on its territory. He did not go into detail about the military measures.

Zorin spoke after U.S. Delegate Arthur H. Dean said the Soviet Union had astounded the world by rejecting the controls it once had agreed were necessary. Dean called on the Soviets for a reversal of the totally unreasonable stand.

Western sources said Zorin's speech took on more of a cold war tone than his previous utterances at the conference.

Zorin reiterated that if the United States carries out nuclear tests in the atmosphere in late April the Soviet Union will be compelled to carry out more tests in turn.

Dean said the West's control requirements had been pared down to a minimum. He rejected Soviet assertions that the control machinery would be used as a cloak for espionage.

The American diplomat reported to the 13th plenary session of the conference on the result of last week's discussion in the subcommittee on nuclear testing. The committee wound up in deadlock with Zorin again refusing to accept international inspection on Soviet territory.

Rocky Aims For Gains in Big Cities

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller turned to his re-election campaign today, armed with a legislative program he is counting on to bring him major gains in vote-rich big cities.

The Republican-controlled New York Legislature, which adjourned Saturday, forged the program for him during its three-month session.

Major developments included enactment of a school-aid program that provided unprecedented help for large cities, a housing program designed chiefly for New York City, creation of an atomic-development authority, increased workmen's compensation benefits and a higher state minimum wage.

To remain as a possibility for 1964 Republican presidential nomination Rockefeller must win the governorship by a decisive margin.

Cities, traditionally, have been the strongholds of the Democratic party in New York State.

Final bills passed in one of the most orderly and efficient closings of the legislature in recent years, included one to increase the salary range for teachers outside of New York City to a minimum of $4,500 and a maximum of $6,800. The range had been $4,200 to $6,200. About 20,000 teachers will benefit.

Cemetery Strika Ends; 400 Burials Planned

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The 27-day strike of cemetery workers against 10 major San Francisco Bay area grave yards ended today and the first of 400 halted burials was to proceed.

The union voted Sunday to accept a new three-year contract calling for a total wage increase of $18. Cemetery workers now get $105 a week.

Pro-Nasser Aides Revolt in Syria

CAIRO (AP)—Army officers in northern Syria proclaimed a rebellion today against the Syrian military junta and demanded reunion with President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic.

A broadcast from the pro-Nasser hotbed of Aleppo, Syria's second largest city, indicated the rebels claimed control in the northern and eastern reaches of Syria. There were no reports of renewed fighting after clashes Sunday in various parts of the nation.

Senate Debates Loans to U.N.

Compromise Measure Heads for Approval

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress heads into its fourth month today with the Senate scheduled to begin debate on a compromise proposal to provide up to $100 million in American loans to the United Nations.

The loan proposal, accepted by the Kennedy administration as a substitute for a request for authority to purchase a similar amount of U.N. bonds, seemed likely to get early and overwhelming Senate approval.

Kennedy picked up Republican support over the weekend by agreeing to a compromise on legislation to help the United Nations finance its special operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

Previously the administration had supported a measure authorizing the President to purchase $25 million in 25-year, 2 per cent interest, U.N. bonds. He could increase these purchases up to $100 million to match subscriptions made by other nations.

Republican leaders had countered with a proposal for a $100 million three-year loan to the United Nations at prevailing interest rates, about 3.5 per cent.

But they agreed to a compromise under which the United States could loan up to $100 million to the United Nations, under terms and conditions negotiated by the President.

Presumably, he could set the interest rates at 2 per cent and make the loans for 25 years. However, all loans above $25 million would be limited to the amount of bonds purchased or loans made by other nations.

Steel Aides Credit JFK For Accord

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Workers at two Pittsburgh district steel mills have credited President Kennedy with being instrumental in bringing about an agreement on a new steel labor contract.

"I think President Kennedy had a lot of influence in the settlement," Paul F. Stanny, 28, said Sunday.

President Kennedy had a "great deal to do with bringing about the settlement," said John C. Susko, 46. "He put the fire out before the thing burned down."

Stanny, a bachelor, works at the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. plant on the South Side. Susko is employed by U.S. Steel Corp. at the suburban Homestead works.

Other rank-and-file members of the United Steelworkers Union expressed relief that a strike had been averted.

"Everyone is glad it's over," said Andrew Mastonak, 51, a 25-year employee at J & L. "Anything is better than a strike."

"I think it's the best thing that could happen for everyone," said Howard Thomas, 42, who works at the Homestead plant. "We signed a contract and lost no work."

Thomas added that many of his fellow workers feel that steel firms "should be able to hold the price of steel at present levels."

"I'm glad it's settled," said Joe Sokol, 44, another J & L worker. "Anything is better than a strike."

The Aleppo claims were ignored in Damascus broadcasts by the junta, which broke with the U.A.R. in an uprising last September and then last week toppled the civilian government it had created.

The junta asserted the army is united in all parts of Syria and warned plotters and exploiters and troublemakers that the general command will take severe punitive measures against them.

In booting out the civilian government, the junta had accused civilian leaders of nullifying land reforms and other measures. It called for a brand of Arab socialism but no reunion with the U.A.R.

But now, apparently under pressure from the uprising in the north, the junta in repeated broadcasts talked vaguely of unity with all Arab countries, including the U.A.R. It seemed to call for some sort of federation, rather than a return to the one-nation setup under which Syria joined Egypt in the U.A.R. in 1958.

Reports from Damascus reaching Beirut, Lebanon, said there had been demonstrations in the Syrian capital this morning before the army banned all gatherings.

The reports added that Syrian army officers were assembling in Damascus to try to reach agreement on some way out of the difficulty.

The broadcast from Aleppo announced a "free officers command" had rebelled against the military junta in Damascus.

Damascus radio said the junta believed in "unity with all liberated Arab countries and first of all with Egypt, provided this unity is built on sound foundations and conditions ensuring the dignity and status of this country (Continued on Page 2)

Scientists Study Meteorite Shower

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP)—A scientist and state police are searching for fragments of a meteorite shower that startled north-central New Mexico residents.

Dr. Lincoln LaPaz, head of the New Mexico University Meteoritics Institute, said the Saturday night fall ranks among the 10 or 12 biggest in the 20th century.

Witnesses said it exploded and showered blue and orange-red fragments. LaPaz said the fragments probably scattered over sparsely populated mountain country northwest of Los Alamos.

BG Judge Shies

At Billboard Suit

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Floyd A. Collier has ruled his court has no jurisdiction over three state officials named defendants in a suit seeking a permanent injunction in a billboard removal case.

The court held it had no jurisdiction over Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys and Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, superintendent of the state patrol.

Judge Collier gave the six plaintiffs who have billboards along Interstate 75 and Interstate 280 in Wood County until April 14 to file amended petitions deleting the names of the defendants over whom his court has no jurisdiction. Meanwhile, a temporary injunction against the state's removal of the billboards will remain in effect.

Injured Worker

Seeks $150,000

Terrance D. Morgan of Springfield has filed a suit for $150,000 for injuries suffered in a fall while painting the Circleville waterworks tower May 26, 1960.

The suit, filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court, was against John E. Stewart, Columbus painting contractor. Stewart's firm handled the paint job here.

Morgan claims he suffered a broken left foot and back and head injuries when he fell 50 feet while painting the tower. He contends a rope holding a boson's chair broke.

The best excuse he could offer was a poor memory.

Police released the man urging him to remember to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Athens Postal Clerk Held For Theft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Athens postal clerk whom authorities said was caught taking money from the U. S. mail waived a preliminary hearing on the charge today and was bound over to the U.S. District Court in Columbus.

The clerk, 22-year-old Paul E. Parsons, was taken into custody Sunday by postal inspectors who say they saw him place 19 Easter seal envelopes and 19 Athens Messenger subscription renewal envelopes in his car.

The charity envelopes reportedly contained $21 and the newspaper envelopes $16 cash and $18.50 in checks.

Inspectors had planted five of the newspaper subscription envelopes as part of an investigation that began three weeks ago. It was initiated after several Messenger subscribers complained their papers had been stopped even though they had sent in renewal money.

The inspectors said they observed Parsons taking the envelopes from mail he sorted, place them in his clothes and later take them to his auto. It was then that the arrest was made.

Parsons, a substitute clerk hired last June, was charged with embezzlement from the U.S. mail. He has been released on $1,000 bond.

Dozen Leap Into Race as Faubus Quits

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A dozen gubernatorial prospects appeared ready today to jump into Arkansas' boiling political waters vacated over the weekend by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Faubus is predicting that up to 20 may get in the swim for the Democratic nomination as his successor.

Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., and Little Rock attorney Kenneth Coffelt, previously had announced they would run regardless of Faubus' plans.

The four-term governor, pushed into the international spotlight by racial strife, told a state wide television and radio audience Saturday night he was bowing out to rest and to write his story of the Little Rock integration crisis.

Arkansas Republican circles remained quiet concerning GOP plans.

Winthrop Rockefeller, the Republican national committeeman from Arkansas, said he felt Faubus' decision "does not change the position of the Republican party," its thinking or its program.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly today in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 at 257.70 with industrials off .30, rails off .20 and utilities off .30.

Gains and losses of most key stocks were small. A good number were unchanged.

Among specially situated or more volatile stocks there were some wider losses.

Steels were narrowly mixed following agreement on a new labor contract. Big Three motors showed virtually no change. Rails lost ground on balance.

Whirlpool fell around 3 points on news that Radio Corp. plans a 1-million share offering of Whirlpool stock. RCA gained a fraction.

New Argentine Boss Tries To Form Patchwork Cabinet

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—

Presidential candidate Jose Maria Guido today neared completion of a patchwork Cabinet to get the stalled Argentine government machine going.

However, he faced major roadblocks.

The quiet, diminutive chief executive, who moved into the presidency after the ouster of Arturo Frondizi, has filled all Cabinet posts except foreign relations, economy and the three military secretaries that operate under the Defense Ministry.

Guido's selection of a Cabinet—after four days of effort—still left him with the prospect of an unfriendly Congress when it reconvenes May 1. Most politicians turned a deaf ear to a plea for a political truce by the armed forces chiefs who ousted Frondizi and imprisoned him.

Though Guido is a leader of Frondizi's Intransigent Radical party, the party's central committee was bitter at the military domination of the government and declared: "We came into power with Frondizi, we leave with him."

Another headache confronting Guido is whether to recognize the election victories on March 18 of adherents of deposed dictator Juan D. Peron, the issue that brought down Frondizi.

The majority of the politicians—including the Intransigent Radicals—favor giving the Peronists the five state governorships and the 43 congressional seats they won last month. The military is determined to keep the exiled Peron and his supporters out of political life even though they polled the largest vote in the March 18 election.

Even if the Peronists were allowed to take their seats in Congress, anti-Peron forces would muster a majority if the Intransigent Radicals and the opposition Popular Radicals patched together some kind of working coalition.

Guido also must decide whether a special presidential election is called or whether he will serve the two years remaining in Frondizi's term. As Argentina had no vice president, Guido as Senate president was next in line to step into Frondizi's shoes.

Telephone contact between Beirut and Aleppo was cut, but circuits remained open between Beirut and Damascus. The junta in a series of broadcast communiques banned meetings of more than five persons, proclaimed a nightly curfew throughout the country from 8 p. m. until 5 a. m. and closed the frontiers although not the airports.

The rebellious officers denounced the junta as an "erring and exploitive group" and accused it of seizing power again last week to "satisfy individual ambitions disregarding the interest and security of the country."

The broadcast communique charged that in breaking away from Egypt last fall, the military leaders "aimed only at dividing the U.A.R. and striking the national hopes of the Arab nation."

Archbishop Rummel, 82, who declared segregation "morally wrong and sinful" six years ago, last week ordered an end to segregated classes in the archdiocese beginning next fall.

Mrs. Gaillot has led a small band of women picketing Rummel's residence, the chancery and the nearby home of Coadjutor Archbishop John Patrick Cody since the announcement.

A high church official disclosed that similar letters had gone to several leading segregationists.

The source said personal letters went to each Catholic on the platform at a meeting last Friday night of the pro-segregationist Citizens Council. Speakers at the meeting attacked the archbishop's segregation order of March 27 and urged withdrawal of financial support to the church.

The chancery denied that any church official made "any statement that personal letters went to each Catholic who was on the platform."

The chancery refused, however, to deny that a letter had been sent to Republican mayoralty candidate E. Ross Buckley and Leander H. Perez Sr., white-haired political boss of neighboring Plaquemines Parish.

Both Perez and Buckley were on the platform at the Citizens Council meeting, along with Democratic district attorney-nominee James H. Garrison; Bernard J. McCloskey, New Orleans director of regulatory inspection; and State Rep. Rodney Buras.

Perez, who has controlled the political forces of his small oil-rich parish for nearly 30 years, has been harshly critical of the archbishop, claiming that the church hierarchy is acting contrary to the will of the people.

Segregationist Seeks Parley With Catholic Archbishop

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—

A militant segregationist who claims she was threatened with excommunication from the Roman Catholic Church sought an interview today with Archbishop Joseph Rummel.

Mrs. B. J. Gaillot, president of Save Our Nation, Inc., said she wants to discuss the segregation issue with the archbishop.

"If I'm wrong, I'll get down on my knees and ask for mercy and forgiveness," Mrs. Gaillot said.

The dark-haired mother of three, a descendant of seven generations of Louisiana Catholics, said she received a registered letter late Saturday night from the archdiocese.

She declined to disclose its contents but said it was a blunt threat of excommunication. She said she assumed she received the letter "because of my stand on segregation."

The archdiocesan chancery issued a statement Sunday night that a "personal and confidential" letter was sent to Mrs. Gaillot.

Mrs. Gaillot's organization contends that Biblical teachings prove "God demands segregation."

Archbishop Rummel, 82, who declared segregation "morally wrong and sinful" six years ago, last week ordered an end to segregated classes in the archdiocese beginning next fall.

Mrs. Gaillot has led a small band of women picketing Rummel's residence, the chancery and the nearby home of Coadjutor Archbishop John Patrick Cody since the announcement.

The chancery refused, however, to deny that a letter had been sent to Republican mayoralty candidate E. Ross Buckley and Leander H. Perez Sr., white-haired political boss of neighboring Plaquemines Parish.

Both Perez and Buckley were on the platform at the Citizens Council meeting, along with Democratic district attorney-nominee James H. Garrison; Bernard J. McCloskey, New Orleans director of regulatory inspection; and State Rep. Rodney Buras.

Perez, who has controlled the political forces of his small oil-rich parish for nearly 30 years, has been harshly critical of the archbishop, claiming that the church hierarchy is acting contrary to the will of the people.

Archbishop Rummel, 82, who declared segregation "morally wrong and sinful" six years ago, last week ordered an end to segregated classes in the archdiocese beginning next fall.

Mrs. Gaillot has led a small band of women picketing Rummel's residence, the chancery and the nearby home of Coadjutor Archbishop John Patrick Cody since the announcement.

A high church official disclosed that similar letters had gone to several leading segregationists.

The source said personal letters went to each Catholic on the platform at a meeting last Friday night of the pro-segregationist Citizens Council. Speakers at the meeting attacked the archbishop's segregation order of March 27 and urged withdrawal of financial support to the church.

The chancery denied that any church official made "any statement that personal letters went to each Catholic who was on the platform."

BG Judge Shies

At Billboard Suit

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Floyd A. Collier has ruled his court has no jurisdiction over three state officials named defendants in a suit seeking a permanent injunction in a billboard removal case.

The court held it had no jurisdiction over Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy, Highway Safety Director J. Grant Keys and Col. Scott B. Radcliffe, superintendent of the state patrol.

Judge Collier gave the six plaintiffs who have billboards along Interstate 75 and Interstate 280 in Wood County until April 14 to file amended petitions deleting the names of the defendants over whom his court has no jurisdiction. Meanwhile, a temporary injunction against the state's removal of the billboards will remain in effect.

Terrance D. Morgan of Springfield has filed a suit for $150,000 for injuries suffered in a fall while painting the Circleville waterworks tower May 26, 1960.

The suit, filed in Franklin County Common Pleas Court, was against John E. Stewart, Columbus painting contractor. Stewart's firm handled the paint job here.

Morgan claims he suffered a broken left foot and back and head injuries when he fell 50 feet while painting the tower. He contends a rope holding a boson's chair broke.

The best excuse he could offer was a poor memory.

Police released the man urging him to remember to appear in Municipal Court Tuesday.

Athens Postal Clerk Held For Theft

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An Athens postal clerk whom authorities said was caught taking money from the U. S. mail waived a preliminary hearing on the charge today and was bound over to the U. S. District Court in Columbus.

The Clerk, 22-year-old Paul E. Parsons, was taken into custody Sunday by postal inspectors who say they saw him place 19 Easter seal envelopes and 19 Athens Messenger subscription renewal envelopes in his car.

The charity envelopes reportedly contained $21 and the newspaper envelopes $16 cash and $18.50 in checks.

Inspectors had planted five of the newspaper subscription envelopes as part of an investigation that began three weeks ago. It was initiated after several Messenger subscribers complained their papers had been stopped even though they had sent in renewal money.

The inspectors said they observed Parsons taking the envelopes from mail he sorted, place them in his clothes and later take them to his auto. It was then that the arrest was made.

Parsons, a substitute clerk hired last June, was charged with embezzlement from the U.S. mail. He has been released on $1,000 bond.

Dozen Leap Into Race as Faubus Quits

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A dozen gubernatorial prospects appeared ready today to jump into Arkansas' boiling political waters vacated over the weekend by Gov. Orval E. Faubus.

Faubus is predicting that up to 20 may get in the swim for the Democratic nomination as his successor.

Rep. Dale Alford, D-Ark., and Little Rock attorney Kenneth Coffelt, previously had announced they would run regardless of Faubus' plans.

The four-term governor, pushed into the international spotlight by racial strife, told a state wide television and radio audience Saturday night he was bowing out to rest and to write his story of the Little Rock integration crisis.

Arkansas Republican circles remained quiet concerning GOP plans.

Winthrop Rockefeller, the Republican national committeeman from Arkansas, said he felt Faubus' decision "does not change the position of the Republican party, its thinking or its program."

Stock Market Moves Lower

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved irregularly lower in moderate trading early this afternoon.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was off .30 at 257.70 with industrials off .30, rails off .20 and utilities off .30. Gains and losses of most key stocks were small. A good number were unchanged.

Among specially situated or more volatile stocks there were some wider losses.

Steels were narrowly mixed following agreement on a new labor contract. Big Three motors showed virtually no change. Rails lost ground on balance.

Whirlpool fell around 3 points on news that Radio Corp. plans a 1-million share offering of Whirlpool stock. RCA gained a fraction.

Eastern U.S. Notes Very Little Spring

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It was wet and cool—not much like spring weather—across many sections in the eastern half of the nation today.

There was snow, freezing rain and sleet and rain in sections of the Northeast, and in Northern and Central Appalachians and in the lower Great Lakes region. Light snow powdered mountain areas in North Carolina.

Snow flurries fell across scattered sections of the Ohio and middle Mississippi River valleys. To the south, rain doused much of Florida.

New Argentine Boss Tries To Form Patchwork Cabinet

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—President Jose Maria Guido today neared completion of a patchwork Cabinet to get the stalled Argentine government machine going. However, he faced major roadblocks.

The quiet, diminutive chief executive, who moved into the presidency after the ouster of Arturo Frondizi, has filled all Cabinet posts except foreign relations, economy and the three military secretaries that operate under the Defense Ministry.

Guido's selection of a Cabinet—after four days of effort—still left him with the prospect of an unfriendly Congress when it reconvenes May 1. Most politicians turned a deaf ear to a plea for a political truce by the armed forces chiefs who ousted Frondizi and imprisoned him.

Though Guido is a leader of Frondizi's Intransigent Radical party, the party's central committee was bitter at the military domination of the government and declared: "We came into power with Frondizi, we leave with him."

Another headache confronting Guido is whether to recognize the election victories on March 18 of adherents of deposed dictator Juan D. Peron, the issue that brought down Frondizi.

The majority of the politicians—including the Intransigent Radicals—favor giving the Peronists the five state governorships and the 43 congressional seats they won last month. The military is determined to keep the exiled Peron and his supporters out of political life even though they polled the largest vote in the March 18 election.

Even if the Peronists were allowed to take their seats in Congress, anti-Peron forces would muster a majority if the Intransigent Radicals and the opposition Popular Radicals patched together some kind of working coalition.

Guido also must decide whether a special presidential election is called or whether he will serve the two years remaining in Frondizi's term. As Argentina had no vice president, Guido as Senate president was next in line to step into Frondizi's shoes.

Segregationist Seeks Parley With Catholic Archbishop

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—

A militant segregationist who claims she was threatened with excommunication from the Roman Catholic Church sought an interview today with Archbishop Joseph Francis Rummel.

Mrs. B. J. Gaillot, president of Save Our Nation, Inc., said she wants to discuss the segregation issue with the archbishop.

"If I'm wrong, I'll get down on my knees and ask for mercy and forgiveness," Mrs. Gaillot said.

The dark-haired mother of three, a descendant of seven generations of Louisiana Catholics, said she received a registered letter late Saturday night from the archdiocese.

She declined to disclose its contents but said it was a blunt threat of excommunication. She said she assumed she received the letter "because of my stand on segregation."

The archdiocesan chancery issued a statement Sunday night that a "personal and confidential" letter was sent to Mrs. Gaillot. Mrs. Gaillot's organization contends that Biblical teachings prove "God demands segregation."

Archbishop Rummel, 82, who declared segregation "morally wrong and sinful" six years ago, last week ordered an end to segregated classes in the archdiocese beginning next fall.

Mrs. Gaillot has led a small band of women picketing Rummel's residence, the chancery and the nearby home of Coadjutor Archbishop John Patrick Cody since the announcement.

County's Share Is $401,622 In State Gasoline Tax Money

Local governments in Pickaway county received $401,622 from the state in gasoline tax money in 1961, according to a county-by-county report just issued by State Auditor James A. Rhodes, showing how the gas tax money was distributed.

Out of the total which Pickaway county received, $220,000 went for county highways; $126,000 for township roads, and $55,622 for streets in municipalities.

The total amount of gasoline tax money distributed by the state to local governments last year was $53,586,858, Rhodes' report shows. This was $189,110 more than the state paid in 1960.

County road departments received $19,360,000 with each county receiving $220,000.

TOWNSHIPS received a total of $11,148,800, or $8,400 for each township in the state.

Cities and villages received $23,078,058. This was distributed according to the motor vehicle registration at a rate of $7.40 for each registered motor vehicle in the municipality.

The state is now in its 37th year of collecting a tax on gasoline. From 1925 when the tax was first imposed until Jan. 1, 1962 the state has collected $2,581,756,804 in gasoline taxes, according to records of Rhodes' office.

Starting with a two-cent tax in 1925, the gas tax produced $12,667,504 during the first full year. During the fiscal year ended June 30, 1961 it brought in $224,787,165.

Out of each dollar collected in gasoline tax, 58 cents goes for state highways; 24 cents is returned to local governments; 14 cents goes to retire highway bonds; and four cents goes for refunds and administrative expense.

Soviet Twisting JFK Statement

Interview Is Basis
For New Propaganda

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union is busily building up a propaganda campaign that the United States is entertaining ideas of a preventive nuclear war.

The campaign is based on a Saturday Evening Post interview in which Stewart Alsop quoted President Kennedy as saying the United States must be prepared to take the initiative in using nuclear weapons in such cases as a "clear attack on Western Europe."

The statement has been quoted widely here, largely out of context and without reference to a later statement issued by White House press secretary Pierre Salinger. Salinger's statement said it had always been clear that all available means would be used to stop a massive Soviet attack by conventional forces which threatened to overrun Europe.

The biggest Soviet blast at the Kennedy interview appeared today in a half-page article in Pravda signed by the official commentator, "Observer."

Observer said "the doctrine that the United States will never be the first to strike a nuclear blow has been quietly discarded. Thus Washington reaffirms the monstrous idea of preventive nuclear war."

The commentator spent a large part of his article insisting that the Soviet Union always has emphasized that it would never be the first to use nuclear weapons—though Premier Khrushchev more than once has threatened his European neighbors with annihilation from his rockets.

The article said the Soviet Union had distinct superiority in nuclear weapons and repeated Khrushchev's claim that it has a global rocket.

Observer charged the White House could not but help understand that its provocative sally at this time would be assessed as a desire to prevent the success of the Geneva disarmament conference.

Labor Peace for Steel To Act like Spring Tonic

NEW YORK (AP)—Peace in the basic steel industry would be like a spring tonic to the nation's economy.

The word from steel management and union negotiators was couched in cautious terms, but it seemed to rule out a repetition of 1959's bitter 116-day strike and other dislocations painful to the business world.

Experts in Wall Street said the apparent settlement might lead to a spring rally in the stock market, which has wallowed in a deepening rut almost since the first of the year.

It improved hopes for several months—at least—of high levels of activity in the automobile, rubber, glass, coal, railroad and a half-dozen other industries.

The development at Pittsburgh overshadowed a number of less encouraging events in Washington. Most of them were reminders of old problems that failed to respond to treatment.

President Kennedy told Congress that the country's balance of payments situation, while improved from a year ago, nevertheless remained in poor shape.

The President said curbs were required on unnecessary spending abroad and that other nations must be persuaded to increase expenditures on defense and aid.

If the outflow of U.S. funds to other nations persistently exceeds income from abroad, gold reserves eventually are sapped, weakening the underpinnings of the U.S. dollar.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges, confirming widespread suspicions, said sluggishness in January and February made it clear the economy would fall short of earlier administration forecasts for the first half of 1962.

However, Hodges said consumer spending has perked up recently. The slowdown, which threatens prospects for expected record high government tax collections, raised questions whether the 1963 budget will be thrown into a deficit.

In recognition of another nagging problem, the President proposed a $600-million public works program including job-making projects designed to relieve heavy unemployment in nearly 1,000 communities.

It should be made part of the $2-billion standby capital improvements program suggested previously, he said.

The cost-of-living index, steady to lower for six months, nosed up to another record high in February. Food prices were mainly to blame. Still, the new level was less than one per cent above a year ago.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather outlook:

Temperatures early today ranged as low as 20 at Youngstown. Columbus dropped to 27 and Cincinnati and Chesapeake had 34.

A low pressure system dominates the area from New England to the Great Lakes. Cloudiness, north winds and snow flurries will continue over the state today and possibly tonight.

Afternoon temperatures today will rise only into the 30s and low 40s, while partial clearing tonight will drop readings into the 20s. Tuesday will be mostly fair with slightly higher temperatures in the afternoon.

OHIO FIVE DAY FORECASTS

Engineer Aides To Be Trained

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Department of Highways has opened a drive to select and train 150 high school graduates to serve as engineering aides in the department.

Those selected for the new program, the first of its kind in the state, will attend a 10-week training course at Ohio State University June 18-Aug. 24 as salaried employees.

Upon completing the course, students will be assigned in such fields as surveying, drafting, electronic computing and construction and material inspection.

Potato-Capped Pipe Blamed for Blast

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Natural gas escaping from a potato-capped gas pipe exploded with the roar of a sonic boom Sunday, wrecking a four-room, unoccupied home here.

A family had moved out of the house Saturday, and Franklin Twp. Fire Capt. Don Welsh said someone apparently had placed a potato over a gas pipe after disconnecting a kitchen stove.

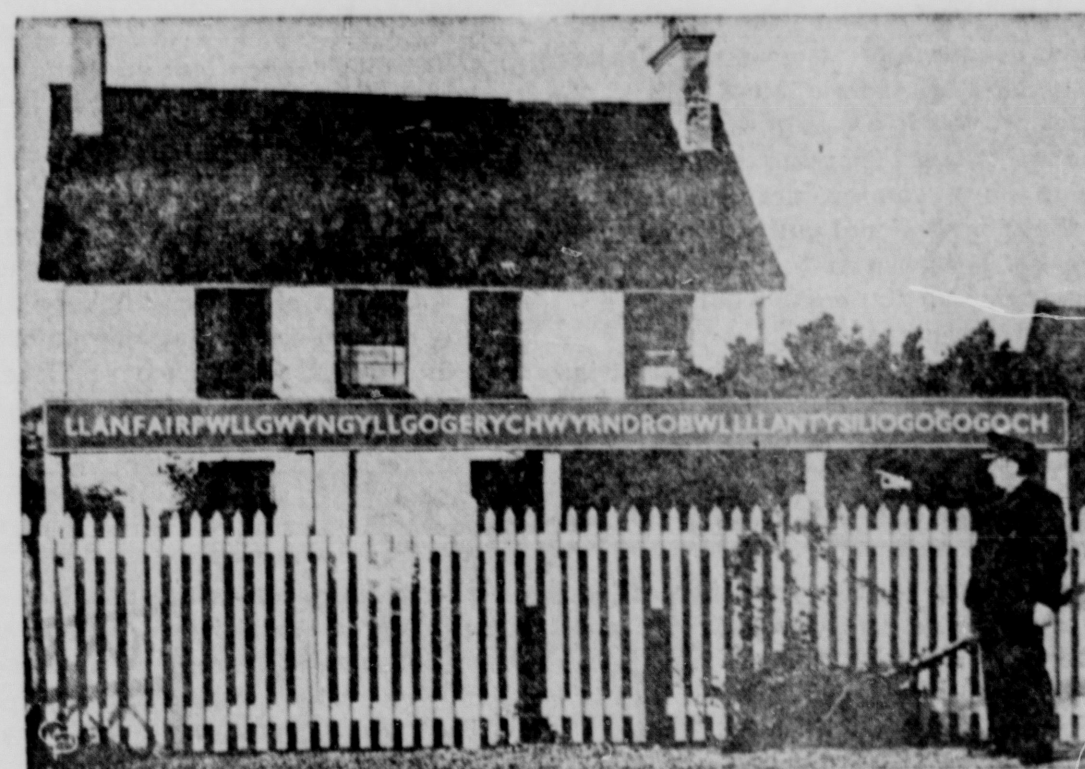

"Either the potato fell from the pipe or the gas escaped and was set off by flames of the hot water heater or a heater in the living room," Welsh explained.

F. W. Dodge Corp., an industry reporting service, changed its earlier estimate to forecast $41 billion in construction contracts, or a 10 per cent rise from 1961 instead of the 7 per cent foreseen last November.

Prospects of down-at-the-heel railroads and air carriers for cost-cutting mergers ran into discouraging signs in Washington.

A house judiciary subcommittee report frowned on the proposed union of American and Eastern airlines. And the Justice Department took a dim view of merger plans of the New York Central and Pennsylvania railroads.

BEAT THE RAILROAD SYSTEM—The people of this town in Wales got all steamed up when the railroad abbreviated the town's name to Llanfair P.G. on tickets. So the British Railways gave in and produced a six-inch ticket. True Philosopher

When in Congress where he served for three decades, Sen. Henry F. Ashurst, Arizona Democrat who was one of his state's first two senators, was widely respected as an objective legislator. At 87 years of age, publication of his book of reminiscences brings back memories of his broadmindedness.

"Barry Goldwater is a fine man from a fine family," he says. "He is a splendid figure on the national scene. No wonder Arizona is proud of him and backs him."

With equal tolerance, he surveys the upsurge of rightwing sentiment: "A bird can't fly with two left wings. Republicans should stop trying to outspend the Democrats. In fact, Democrats should stop trying to outspend Democrats . . . Perhaps the conservative rise is a manifestation of cosmic destiny. There are occasionally cosmic tendencies that can't be controlled by politicians."

On the international scene he purveys optimism about peace because "the Russians are scared of invasion and probably will be for another hundred years."

His summation of the United Nations: "I'm for it, but taking in all these new nations is like rescuing a drowning man. When you save a drowning man, you've got to be prepared to take him home and feed him the rest of his life."

A true philosopher is the venerable senator. The legislative halls of the nation could use more of his type today.

Nothing To Worry About

Physicists at Princeton University have been working for years on the problem of whether gravitation is growing weaker with the passage of time. Most physicists hold that gravity is a constant.

But a few of them, working on the theory of evolutionary change, are striving to prove that gravitational pull is not what it used to be. It is known that the force of gravity varies on the earth's surface, depending on various factors.

This is nothing to worry about. But it is interesting, if true, that gravity does not pin objects so closely to earth's surface as it once did. It could explain why high jumpers once stumped by the bar at six feet now clear seven feet and why pole vaulters are soaring to 16 feet when 14 feet was once a sensational performance.

Those who insist on worrying might consider the ultimate disaster, perhaps a million years from now. Everybody would need some sort of anchor to keep from soaring off into space. But long before the man may learn much from residence on the moon, where gravitational pull is only a fraction of what it is on earth.

Are Real Shakeups Coming?

Reverberations of the recent byelection victories of the Liberal Party in Britain still are being felt. Both Labor and Conservative leaders are shaking their heads and wondering whether this could develop into real shakeups.

Jo Grimond, leader of the Liberals, now has declared that he wants the British electorate's help in building a "radical, progressive" party to turn the Conservatives out. He hopes to capture the following that is slipping away from the Laborites.

He lists his goals as the usual ones — more taxes on the rich, no nuclear arms for Britain, more government interference in industrial relations, etc. It's the kind of program that could entice many leftwingers into Liberal ranks.

But it is too early for Washington to make plans to deal with a Liberal government after the 1963 national parliamentary elections. The Liberals now have only seven members in the 630-member Commons.

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—March has dumped quite a package of international financial and trade problems in the lap of April.

A lot of the old standbys are included, if in fresh guises: Gold, tariffs, foreign aid, international banking compacts. And entwined are some you might be surprised to find there: Steel wage talks, the federal budget, automation, job security, the cost of living (meaning prices).

The way these seemingly unlikely bedfellows get together is this:

A small but growing number of financial and trade observers are saying the United States can't solve its acute problems of a recently continued outflow of gold and a continuing deficit in balance of payments just by setting up international banking pacts to fight any runs on the dollar. You've got to go deeper and, as they put it, get America's own house in order.

The danger to the dollar, however remote it may seem, is that for four years the United States has sent considerably more dollars overseas than it got back—an average of about $3.4 billion a year, although this has been dropping.

Foreigners turned some of their surplus dollars into the U.S. Treasury for gold at 35 an ounce. This way the United States lost

$2.3 billion in gold in 1958, about $1 billion in 1959, another $1.7 billion in 1960 but cut it to $900 million last year.

The trouble is that most of the 1961 loss was in the final months of the year and so far in 1962 the outflow has been $279 million.

The hoard is still $16.6 billion. This is about 40 per cent of the gold held in the non-Communist world but the lowest since the start of World War II.

The United States hopes to control the short-term flow of gold by such means as the proposed currency stabilization plan of the International Monetary Fund for which Congress is being asked to authorize $2 billion and by age old pool to be operated by the central banks of the leading non-Communist nations, including the United States.

Still, the basic problem remains the deficit in balance of payments. This shortfall of dollar receipts from abroad against the bigger amounts of money sent overseas dropped to $2.5 billion last year. The administration hopes to cut this to $1.5 billion this year (many in the foreign trade business think the deficit will be closer to $2.5 billion again).

An increase in U.S. exports is seen as the chief means of cutting the deficit to gain that end, the administration has asked Congress for power to cut U.S. tariffs in return for concessions from lands now penalizing American goods and to give industry tax incentives to improve its plants.

That brings the controversial tariff issue into the battle. The perennial fight over foreign aid is also involved. U.S. exports already top imports. The international payments deficit arises from other dollar spending. This includes foreign aid, overseas military bases and periodical flights of short-term investment dollars to other lands where interest rates often are higher.

But some businessmen who applaud the administration's move toward freer trade say that the dollar's status can be defended successfully over the long term and U.S. exports materially increased only by tightening the budgetary policies of the federal government and by achieving price stability. This last involves avoidance of inflationary wage hikes, the goal in the steel labor talks.

The put-our-house-in-order advocates also stress cost control and increased efficiency. This often means automation on the one hand and on the other giving up featherbedding practices on the part of both labor and management—both highly controversial proposals.

And increased profits also are advocated as the way to insure plant expansion and modernization, if Americans are to compete with foreigners and expand exports.

Stopping the outflow of gold and curbing the balance of payments are problems that are far from licked.

Nearly 35 million gas ranges now are in daily service in the United States.

ICE FLOW—Ice cakes from the flooding Platte River spread over farmland a mile west of Valley, Neb. That shelter belt of trees and other growth keeps ice from the farmhouse.

Inside You and Yours

By BURTON H. FERN, M.D.

Do you winced with pain every time ice water touches a tender tooth? Do sugary sweets, hot soups or acid juices start your teeth aching.

Normally, hard white enamel insulates teeth from outside pain. But hot or cold and sweet or sour messages can squeeze through thinned enamel.

Tiny fibers channel the message to the nerve deep inside the tooth. And toothaches strike. Hard brushing may grind away most enamel. Only a thin layer protects children's tender teeth. When gums recede, or have to be cut away, painful triggers can seep through the exposed porous coating around the root.

Cautious—like those which shell out corns and warts—and protein-changing chemicals can clog those tiny channels carrying pain messages to the main nerve.

The cure is only temporary and many discolor the teeth. An electronic toothbrush thickens and toughens tender teeth by driving fluoride particles into the enamel. This treatment keeps you commuting to the dentist's office. And so dentists are exploring a do-it-yourself remedy—a special toothbrush for tender teeth. Strontium chloride—its active ingredient—doesn't irritate, poison or cause allergic troubles.

When one group of tender-tooth sufferers were told to brush with this toothbrush for several months 9 out of 10 reported some benefit. Most claimed good or complete relief. Unfortunately, we can't compare the results with another group that brushed as usual.

But hardly anyone winced when tender teeth were scraped and flooded with ice water. Those who didn't benefit all brushed only once a day. Perhaps extra brushing would have helped; perhaps not.

Pain is hard to measure—it changes with your mood. Still, you might ask your dentist about trying this special toothpaste on your tender teeth. It may really toughen and thicken the hard enamel.

Could so much relief be caused by one happy dentist?

Who Has Equality?

By George Sokolsky

It would seem that despite all the laws on the statute books, women are still struggling for absolute equality with men. As a matter of fact, most men would grant them absolute equality, provided the man could get some himself.

In the good old days, a man was at least allowed to believe that he was the boss of the house, but these days, no woman threatens to go back to mother. She goes out and gets a job, depriving the breadwinner of some family of his hereditary rights and dignities.

So I read in the newspapers that some mothers want to be astronauts, although my experience is that if two parents bring up three children and maybe a dog, they have a very tough time on their hands. This is surely true when the children reach the age of indiscretion, when they doubt whether the old-timers know what it's all about. These days a woman can so cover herself with gunk, that it would take an X-ray to produce the truth. As to age, it is amazing what eye-shadow and nail polish and a pancake finish will do to a gentle person who really has nothing to hide. And as for hair, sometimes I can hardly recognize girls I know well after they have covered themselves with dyes and sprays and the outpourings of hissing tin cans.

However, what really started me off on this delightful subject is that I have received a couple of pamphlets from Texas which show a dame with a ball and chain and it really tells how tough they are down there on women. For instance, as an example of inequality, the pamphlet says:

"If your husband kills a man 'taken in adultery' with you, it's justifiable homicide. But if you kill your husband's girl-friend—that's murder!"

As I see it, from a man's standpoint, the men in Texas must love their wives or they would not kill anyone who wants to take a wife from a husband. On the other hand, I must say that if a husband has a girlfriend, the wife must be a nag, or a shrew, or jealous. Otherwise, why would a comfortable, contented man do such a mean thing to his one and only?

The pamphlet also says: "A girl in Texas may legally marry at 14 years, and may marry a 16-year-old boy. Being a minor, the boy-husband cannot manage or convey his own separate property or the community property, but being a husband, he can join in the conveyance of his 14-year-old wife's separate property and pass valid title.

Where did the kids get all this property? It must clearly be the fault of the parents who are too generous. Then there are lists of things that a married woman in Texas cannot do, like, for instance, 'Manage, sell or give away your own property without your husband's say-so, unless you make your assets a matter of public record,' or 'GO into business with your own funds without your husband's permission and signature.'

As I read the two pamphlets, I wondered if any women ever got married in Texas, and as I have some friends in that state who are married and seem to be about as happy as could be, I must say that there is some kind of paradox. For instance, the Vice President, Lyndon Johnson, and his Lady Bird are Texans and they look like a delightful, up-standing pair and from what I hear Lady Bird is a smart businesswoman while the Vice President goes about politicking.

True Philosopher

When in Congress where he served for three decades, Sen. Henry F. Ashurst, Arizona Democrat who was one of his state's first two senators, was widely respected as an objective legislator. At 87 years of age, publication of his book of reminiscences brings back memories of his broadmindedness.

"Barry Goldwater is a fine man from a fine family," he says. "He is a splendid figure on the national scene. No wonder Arizona is proud of him and backs him."

With equal tolerance, he surveys the upsurge of rightwing sentiment: "A bird can't fly with two left wings. Republicans should stop trying to outspend the Democrats. In fact, Democrats should stop trying to outspend Democrats . . . Perhaps the conservative rise is a manifestation of cosmic destiny. There are occasionally cosmic tendencies that can't be controlled by politicians."

On the international scene he purveys optimism about peace because "the Russians are scared of invasion and probably will be for another hundred years."

His summation of the United Nations: "I'm for it, but taking in all these new nations is like rescuing a drowning man. When you save a drowning man, you've got to be prepared to take him home and feed him the rest of his life."

A true philosopher is the venerable senator. The legislative halls of the nation could use more of his type today.

Ag Market Conditions Holding Steady

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government farm price report showed today that market conditions affecting agriculture have been holding steady during the winter and early spring.

Prices received by farmers for their products in mid-March were up four-tenths of 1 per cent from mid-February and the same amount from mid-March a year ago. Prices paid by farmers for goods and services used in production and in family living held at the record high set in February and 1 per cent above a year earlier.

The Agriculture Department said that between mid-February and mid-March, prices of commercial vegetables increased 11 per cent due to winter crop damage, while wheat and rye increased 2 per cent, fruit 6 per cent, beef cattle 2, and potatoes 9.

But hogs declined about 1.2 per cent, dairy products 4, and poultry and eggs five.

The department said prices paid by farmers for items used in production increased about one-third of 1 per cent during the month ended March 15 but that prices of items used in family living remained at the record high set in February.

Higher prices paid by farmers for feeder cattle and baby chicks raised the feeder and replacement livestock index 3 per cent.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Feed Manufacturers Association, Inc., predicts that egg prices are likely to average 29 to 30 cents a dozen at the farm during April-June, or two to three cents under a year ago.

This and other poultry price forecasts have been made by an association poultry survey committee, comprising college poultry economists. It predicted egg prices in July-September will average around 33 to 34 cents, or one to two cents below a year earlier.

Producer prices of turkeys at the farm were projected at an average of 22 cents a pound next September - December, or about four cents above a year earlier.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government food donations to low-income persons, the school lunch program and eligible public institutions are running double the volume of a year ago.

The Agriculture Department reported today the quantity donated from surplus supplies totaled 970 million pounds during the first half of the fiscal year ending June 30 compared with 484 million in the like period a year earlier.

THE CENTAUR BEFORE FIRING—Here is NASA's Atlas-Centaur rocket, ready for firing on the launch pad at Cape Canaveral, Fla. This is the two-stage vehicle which will be used to get scientific Earth satellites and probes to the Moon and other "near" planets. The first stage Atlas-D booster develops 367,000 pounds thrust. Two 15,000-pound thrust engines power the second stage. First launching calls for a 1,175-mile firing to reach 300 miles in altitude.

Container, DuPont Plants Included in Export Studies

The E. I. DuPont de Nemours and Container Corporation of America plants at Circleville were two firms listed in a recent export origin study of Ohio's Sixth Congressional District, compiled by the U. S. Department of Commerce.

According to the report, Circleville's DuPont plant is illustrative of the Sixth District's exporting industry. The establishment, part of Du Pont's Film Department, manufactures packaging and industrial film.

The Circleville operation indicates the increasing importance of such packaging materials. Du Pont has subsidiaries and branches in Argentina, Belgium, Brazil, Chile, Canada, France, Japan, Mexico, the Netherlands, Northern Ireland, Peru, Switzerland, the United Kingdom, Venezuela and West Germany, the report showed.

The company as a whole accounted for approximately eight per cent of U. S. exports of chemicals and allied products in 1960.

CONTAINER, with its mill in Circleville, is one of the Sixth District's producer - exporters of paper products.

The Parent corporation, well known as the largest manufacturer of paperboard products in the United States, has extensive distribution and manufacturing operations abroad which complement its export function.

CCA has numerous plants, as indicated by parentheses, in various countries: West Germany (12), Italy (5), Mexico (4), Colombia (7), Venezuela (5), the Netherlands (1) and Australia (1).

The Department of Commerce prepared the series of studies in response to many requests from the Congress and the public for information regarding exports from each of the states. They show that exports originate in every state in significant quantities, and thereby contribute to the economic well being of American businessmen, workers and communities.

Japan Cabinet Curtails Trade

Imports To Be Cut 10 Pct. in New Move

TOYKO (AP) —The Japanese Cabinet has approved a foreign exchange budget which trade officials said means a reversal in the nation's trend toward free trade.

The $3.9-billion budget for the first half of fiscal 1962 is the first cutback in four years. It compares with a record $4.5-billion budget for the last half of fiscal 1961.

Japanese importers in the next six months will have about 10 per cent less foreign exchange than they had in the last half-year to buy goods abroad.

Ministry of International Trade and Industry officials said Japan "virtually has decided to move in on the opposite direction of free trade."

Japan in recent years has been under heavy fire from nations that charge it wants to sell more abroad but is reluctant to open its markets to foreigners.

Last September, President Kennedy singled out Japan as the only major industrial country with an extensive system of restrictions on imports.

Japanese officials declared in following months they would lead the nation toward free trade. And with much fanfare, the government kicked off an import liberalization program that it said would make more foreign exchange available for purchases abroad.

While approving a smaller foreign exchange budget, the government also announced it had added 320 more items to the list of goods to be liberalized. But this liberalization probably will be largely canceled by the tightening up on money available for imports.

The nation's foreign exchange reserve now stands at about $1.5 billion. Japanese economists have warned for months that $1.2 billion is the danger line and that the reserve would dip even further if huge purchases abroad were not stopped.

Under the new budget, the foreign exchange available for machinery imports in the next six months was slashed to $350 million, a $100-million drop. Exchange available for another major import item, oil, was cut by $43 million to $229 million. The only allocation increase was for food imports, upped from $163 million to $178 million.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—You can't quarrel with President Kennedy's appointment of Byron R. (Whizzer) White to the U. S. Supreme Court because of his age (44) or judicial experience (none).

The figures won't back you up. But there isn't much opposition to him anyway.

He is just a few years younger than the average age of all American Supreme Court justices at the time of their appointment. And he'll be right at home as a man who never served as a judge before.

Only four of the nine justices on the court last week — unless Lingo Black's experience as a police court magistrate is counted — had experience on the bench before going to the high court.

Apparently no one is mad at White personally. This wasn't so when some of the present justices were named. Black and Felix Frankfurter were controversial figures when President Franklin D. Roosevelt picked them.

There's a good explanation toward the lack of animosity toward

White. He has never said or done anything — so far as is now known — to stir it up.

No one seems sure what his views on the issues are — simply because he has been so publicly quiet since Kennedy made him deputy attorney general last year.

Before then he was just a Colorado lawyer, known best for his brilliant scholastic record and as an All-America football player in the 1930s. He was a big Kennedy booster in the 1960 campaign.

Here are some figures to set White against in the long history of Supreme Court justices, going back to the beginning:

At the time of their appointment their average age was almost 53. This puts White about midway between the youngest and the average.

The youngest was Joseph Story, who was 32. Of the 93 justices in history, only two other justices were under 40 when appointed: William Johnson, 33, and Bushrod Washington, 36.

All three were named in the earliest years of the court. Story, the last of them, was appointed in 1811. For the last 151 years, no one under 40 has been given a seat on the court.

Story was not only the youngest justice appointed, but served 34 years. Others matched the 34-year mark, but no one topped it.

Only nine of the 93 justices served 30 years or longer. Besides Story, they were (with the years served): John Marshall, 34; Stephen J. Field, 34; John M. Harlan, 34; John McLean, 32; James M. Wayne, 32; Bushrod Washington, 31; William Johnson, 30, and Oliver Wendell Holmes, 30.

Charles Evans Hughes, named chief justice by President Herbert Hoover in 1930, was the oldest man ever appointed to the court. He was then 68. However, he had previously served on the court and resigned to run against Woodrow Wilson for the presidency in 1916.

Altogether 15 justices were in the 60s when appointed.

At the time Justice Charles Evans Whittaker resigned last week only four — if Black's very minor experience is excepted —

By James Marlow Chamber Directors

To Meet Tuesday

of the nine justices had prior experience on the bench:

Whittaker, on the U. S. Court of Appeals; John M. Harlan (grand son of Justice Harlan who served 34 years), on the U. S. Court of Appeals; William J. Brennan Jr., a former New Jersey court judge; and Potter Stewart, on the U. S. Court of Appeals.

All four of them had fairly limited experience. Brennan, with seven years in the New Jersey courts, had the most.

Circleville's Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors will meet noon Tuesday at Benny's Restaurant for a regular monthly luncheon session.

Committee reports will be included on the agenda. President Charles Schiebert urged all committees to be represented.

Wife Can Do Much To Keep Husband Healthy Off the Job

A wife may not be able to change the machine age or slow down the pace of big business but there's a lot she can do to keep her husband healthy and relaxed when he's off the job. Her efforts in this area can make her life happier, too — especially right now as the pace of holiday shopping and preparations speeds up.

So says Jean Kinkead, women's consultant to The Travelers Insurance Companies. She has some tips — both mental and physical — on how to help a husband release the tensions of his daily job and encourage him to stay healthy and fit.

Plan a domestic "decompression chamber". At the end of the day a man needs a breathing spell, a time to unwind before playing with children and listening to household problems. Try to give him a quiet half-hour of your attention after he steps in the door.

Encourage relaxation around the house whenever possible, both in clothes and time schedules. A sports shirt and a comfortable pair of old slacks invite such a mood, and dressing up for one occasion during the weekend is enough.

Plan an occasional overnight trip just for two of you to vary the routine of your lives. A change of scene, even one as simple as spending the night at a motel, can be very refreshing.

Don't go overboard on ambitious do-it-yourself projects. It's very easy to allow these to pile up, so that your husband is spending the majority of his leisure time as Mr. Fix-it.

Take over the household bills, if agreeable to your husband. Many wives handle most of the details of family budgeting, much to their spouses' relief.

Encourage him to find an absorbing hobby. Whether it's tinkering with a hi-fi set, teaching Sunday School, collecting stamps or birdwatching, hobbies provide a relaxing outlet for a man.

Consult the experts when trouble arises. Instead of stewing over problems, get them straightened out promptly. Doctors, lawyers, accountants and teachers are there to help you both and are well worth the time and money to see them.

Watch your husband's diet and drink. If your husband is overweight, help him to lose by planning calorie-conscious meals. There are dozens of good cookbooks on this subject. And dwelling on physical care — use all your powers of persuasion to see that he visits the family doctor for regular checkups.

Help your husband to get regular exercise. This isn't easy for a busy man but it's very necessary. If he can't find time for tennis, golf or bowling, try to get him out walking. It's probably the best exercise there is, and there are always fun places a husband and wife can walk together.

Encourage him to participate in strictly masculine activities, such as fishing or poker. An evening out "with the boys" every once in a while is good relaxation for your husband. A strictly stag night is as much fun for him as the coffee klatch is for you.

Brides School Is Scheduled On Wednesday

Young brides and engaged girls, have you bought furniture for your home? Have you been shopping and find it hard to make a decision on what to buy?

Help and valuable information on these subjects may be obtained at the open session of our county Brides School.

Mrs. Kileen Wright, County Extension agent, is conducting the school. To assist with the class on selection of furniture will be Miss Dorothy Lawrence, Home Furnishings specialist from Ohio State University.

Dear Abby: It's a Tough Rap, Man!

by Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: First I'll tell you about me. Then her. Then him. I am considered a pretty stable guy. I am 33, own my own business, have a car, a boat and money in the bank. And I am helplessly in love. She is in her twenties. Beautiful, intelligent and goofy about another guy. He is good-looking, penniless, drunken bum. She has me call him in bars all over town, because she's afraid he won't answer if it's a woman's voice. She admits she picks up the tab when she's with him. I met this bum, and can see right through him. Why can't she? I would marry this girl in a minute, but she thinks of me as a Big Brother. She is the most beautiful creature on this earth. I want to scream in frustration and kill that bum. Should I lay it on the line to her and make her see that he doesn't want her, but I do?

DAVID
DEAR DAVID: You could "lay it on the line," but that wouldn't change her feelings for you—or the "bum." When a woman is "in love" with a character she knows to be worthless, she isn't thinking—she is feeling—so she has no use for logic. If she comes to her senses on her own, you might have a chance. But you can't kill love. It has to die by itself.

DEAR ABBY: What would you have done if you were a boy and you took a girl to a formal and this girl you took was very pretty except for a lot of freckles on her back? And during the evening you noticed your white jacket was all full of orange stuff which turned out to be the make-up this girl covered her back with to hide her freckles?

ALL MESSED UP
DEAR ALL: I would have my jacket cleaned and forget it.

DEAR ABBY: I am a working wife. My husband works a different shift than I and this is giving me a problem. He comes to where I work and hangs around until I get fired. This has happened to me three times and I don't want to lose the job I now have. I have told him not to call for me "early" or else to wait in the car, but he doesn't pay any attention to me. Have you any suggestions?

WORKING WIFE
DEAR WORKING: Evidently your husband isn't convinced that you mean what you say. Or else he is deliberately trying to get you fired. Find out what's on his mind, if he has one.

CONFIDENTIAL TO DAN H.:
I'd rather send you the dollar. For he who sells what isn't his must give it back or go to prison.

Stop worrying. Let Abby help you with that problem. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope. Box 3365, Beverly Hills, Calif.

Decorate Children's Room With Upkeep Note in Mind

By ELEANOR ROSS

One of the greatest delights in planning for that first baby is decorating the nursery.

While Mother should be as practical as possible — she gets plenty of advice along that line — she wants some frills, too.

Well, since the pretty and the practical is so nicely combined in today's nursery furnishings and accessories, this isn't difficult.

A pretty bassinet is a thing of beauty and a great joy to any mother's heart. No need to be prosaic about it. The young mother can have all the frills and ruffles and tiered skirts she has envisioned, because the newest bassinet skirts and canopies are machine-washable. They may look like fluffy clouds, but actually they can be washed easily and safely by machine.

One excellent idea is a skirt-and-lining combination made all in one piece — with the quilted lining attached to the fluffy skirt so that the whole business can be slipped off and put into the washer. Same goes for the dainty canopies, sketched so easily off their wire frames.

The newest furnishings for children's rooms combine gay and pretty design with practical suds-and-water upkeep.

A children's room featured at the National Design Center in New York City contains no less than 14 shades of washable leather. Here's one room which children can enjoy without being restricted by a string of "Don'ts." The only upkeep required is to sponge these leather surfaces with thick "dry" suds, followed by a rinsing with a minimum of water.

Fiberglass curtains made a happy teammate for the handsome little leather pieces and surfaces.

These spun glass curtains, done in circus prints, make a happy choice since they are fireproof and resistant to dirt and fading. Just wash by hand in plenty of lukewarm suds and rinses, and then let them drip dry in a matter of minutes. No wringing, no ironing. Back they go on the curtain rods while still damp.

Wife Can Do Much To Keep Husband Healthy Off the Job

A wife may not be able to change the machine age or slow down the pace of big business but there's a lot she can do to keep her husband healthy and relaxed when he's off the job. Her efforts in this area can make her life happier, too — especially right now as the pace of holiday shopping and preparations speeds up.

So says Jean Kinkead, women's consultant to The Travelers Insurance Companies. She has some tips — both mental and physical — on how to help a husband release the tensions of his daily job and encourage him to stay healthy and fit.

Plan a domestic "decompression chamber". At the end of the day a man needs a breathing spell, a time to unwind before playing with children and listening to household problems. Try to give him a quiet half-hour of your attention after he steps in the door.

Encourage relaxation around the house whenever possible, both in clothes and time schedules. A sports shirt and a comfortable pair of old slacks invite such a mood, and dressing up for one occasion during the weekend is enough.

Plan an occasional overnight trip just for two of you to vary the routine of your lives. A change of scene, even one as simple as spending the night at a motel, can be very refreshing.

Don't go overboard on ambitious do-it-yourself projects. It's very easy to allow these to pile up, so that your husband is spending the majority of his leisure time as Mr. Fix-it.

Take over the household bills, if agreeable to your husband. Many wives handle most of the details of family budgeting, much to their spouses' relief.

Encourage him to find an absorbing hobby. Whether it's tinkering with a hi-fi set, teaching Sunday School, collecting stamps or birdwatching, hobbies provide a relaxing outlet for a man.

Consult the experts when trouble arises. Instead of stewing over problems, get them straightened out promptly. Doctors, lawyers, accountants and teachers are there to help you both and are well worth the time and money to see them.

Watch your husband's diet and drink. If your husband is overweight, help him to lose by planning calorie-conscious meals. There are dozens of good cookbooks on this subject. And dwelling on physical care — use all your powers of persuasion to see that he visits the family doctor for regular checkups.

Help your husband to get regular exercise. This isn't easy for a busy man but it's very necessary. If he can't find time for tennis, golf or bowling, try to get him out walking. It's probably the best exercise there is, and there are always fun places a husband and wife can walk together.

Encourage him to participate in strictly masculine activities, such as fishing or poker. An evening out "with the boys" every once in a while is good relaxation for your husband. A strictly stag night is as much fun for him as the coffee klatch is for you.

Logan Elm Lists Starters
For Tuesday Tilt with Monroe

Vic Pontius, Logan Elm baseball coach, has announced a tentative starting line up for tomorrow's opener with Monroe. Pontius has six starters returning from last year's squad that finished second to Ashville in both the county league and tournament. The Braves' overall record was nine wins and three losses. Two of the setbacks came at the hands of Ashville and the other one was suffered in district play against Licking Heights.

Starting pitcher tomorrow will be veteran Dick Dean. Jeff Lutz, a freshman, will be catcher. Bob Parker will start at first base and Ron Gabriel at second. Pontius said Gene Jordan will probably get the call at third and Chuck Spangler at shortstop. Spangler also is listed as a starting pitcher and Lutz will be ready for relief.

Bosox To Test Tribe's Opener

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—The Boston Red Sox will get an advance peek today at the Cleveland pitcher who probably will open the season against them in Boston a week from Tuesday. He's Dick Donovan, the Indians' 34-year-old right-hander who was the American League's earned run average leader in 1961 with Washington. Donovan, who went seven innings in his last outing, has been getting stronger each time. He appears to be coming up to his top form.

The Indians may be doing the same after ending a three-game losing streak with a 6-5 triumph over the Los Angeles Dodgers at Las Vegas Sunday.

HEAD MAN FOR FLYERS—Most Valuable Player in the NIT tourney in New York, Bill Chmielewski, Dayton U. soph. wears his award as he is mobbed by fans after the Flyers won the tourney by beating St. John's.

Pontius said pitching looks like the teams strongest position. If the Braves show any hitting at-tack this year he believes they will be a strong contender in both the Pickaway County league and tournament and in the Scioto Valley League, of which they are a member. Pontius has announced the addition of the Scioto Valley league games to the schedule. On April 13 the Braves meet Paint Valley here. Then they go to Piketon on April 18 for a league game. Date of the tilt with Unio will be announced later.

Little Texan Wins Azalea Open Purse

WILMINGTON, N.C. (AP)—On one 362-yard, par-four hole, little Dave Marr won more money than he had in 10 golf tournaments this year. The Texas native who plays out of Sun City, Ariz., birdied the first hole of a sudden death play-off Sunday to beat red-haired Jerry Steelsmith, Glendale, Calif., and win the $20,000 Azalea Open tournament. Marr's $2,800 first-place check compares with the $2,500 he had picked up in 10 tournaments on the circuit. Steelsmith, who had won $2,900 in playing all 13 previous PGA events this year, settled for $1,900 runnerup money.

The two young pros—Marr is 28 and Steelsmith 26—tied over the 72-hole distance with 281 scores, seven under par for the 6,700-yard Cape Fear Country Club course. A lengthy consultation involving officials of the tournament, the PGA, Marr and Steelsmith resulted in a decision to hold a sudden death playoff. Earlier, it had been announced that an 18-hole playoff would be staged in the event of a tie. Marr, headed for Augusta, Ga., and the Masters, was anxious to clean up unfinished business here.

Hutch To Depend On Robby's Bat

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Manager Fred Hutchinson has put the hat squarely on Frank Robinson again for the Cincinnati Reds' big hitting power this year. That's all right with Robby, judging from his work on baseball's present spring exhibition circuit. In the last two days he failed only once to get a solid hit in seven official tries, and he wound up batting a hearty .500 for the week. "I feel better at this stage of the training season than ever before," Robby said Sunday, "but I'm not going to predict how much I'll hit or how many homers I'll get."

Buck Spotlight Turns on Gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—King football returns to the Ohio State University today when the Big Ten champion Buckeyes open five weeks of spring drills. The outlook is bright as Coach Woody Hayes inaugurates his 12th campaign with four Western Conference titles tucked under his belt. Close to 100 grid aspirants are expected to answer the early call. A good number of sophomores are in the group but Hayes can count on 22 returning lettermen.

Gone from last year's squad that rambled to eight straight wins after a season-opening tie with TCU are such stalwarts as All-American fullback Bob Ferguson, ends Tom Perdue, Chuck Bryant, Sam Tidmore and George Witmer, guard Mike Ingram, halfback Ron Houck and defensive tackle George Tolford. But there's enough solid talent remaining to give the Bucks a strong shot at a second straight championship. Hayes, who admits he is optimistic about the outlook, says the big problem will be finding adequate replacements at the end spots.

Celts Lead Playoff for NBA Honors

BOSTON (AP)—Boston's Bob Cousy admits the Eastern Division playoffs can easily go the full seven games but thinks "frankly, we're due for a real good game in Philadelphia." The Celtics lead the best-of-seven National Basketball Association series 3-2 after Sunday's 119-104 victory punctuated by flaring tempers, a few punches and two mass invasions of the court by fans. The series resumes in Philadelphia Tuesday night with a seventh game, if needed, in Boston Thursday. The Western Division playoffs pick up again at Detroit Tuesday night. The Pistons narrowed Los Angeles' lead to 3-2 with a 132-125 verdict Saturday. The rough stuff in the latest game (none seriously hurt, two fans arrested) was brought up to Cousy.

"You might think we'd be gun shy the next time out, especially if the same referees, Sid Borgia and Norm Drucker work Tuesday night," Cousy said. "But it could work to our advantage if they call 'em close." Threatening gestures between Wilt Chamberlain and Sam Jones, a budding fist fight between veteran Carl Braun and Philadelphia's Guy Rodgers and a near incident pitting Rodgers and bury Jim Loscutt were the focal points of the outbursts. Later Boston's Tom Heinsohn was ejected.

In 1961, Eddie Arcaro's mounts won the most money during the New York racing season—$1,303,844. Johnny Rutz won the most New York races, taking 157 at Aqueduct, Belmont and Saratoga. Carry Back won five races in which more than $100,000 changed hands. They were the Garden State, Flamingo, Florida Derby, Kentucky Derby and Preakness.

returns as an offensive end but he will miss the spring sessions as will four other Buckeyes who are busy with either baseball or track. The others are halfbacks Bob Klein and Springfield's Bill Hess and quarterback Joe Sparma, of Massillon, all playing baseball, and halfback Paul Warfield, a Warren junior, engaged in track. Ohio's only other serious loss for the season is Ed Ulmer, a victim of grades. The Buckeyes have an abundance of backfield wealth with Bill Mrukowski, Elyria, John Mumme, Painesville and Sparma to vie once again at quarterback. Bucyrus' hard-running Dave Katterhenrich appears to be the likely replacement for Ferguson with Warfield and Klein filling out the halfback posts. Returning linemen include regulars Bob Vogel, of Massillon, and Daryl Sanders, Mayfield Heights at tackles; Tom Jenkins, of Dayton, and Rod Foster, Cleveland, at guards and Bill Armstrong, of Huron, at center. Also back are linebacker Gary Moeller, of Lima, and place-kicking specialist Dick VanRaaphorst, of Ligonier, Pa. A pair of freshman prospects who should help considerably are Bill Spahr, a product of Columbus Linden McKinley, at end, and Dick Thoma, a linebacker from Columbus Watterson. The 20 spring drills, set at a four-a-week pace, will be climaxed by the annual spring game on May 5.

Big Question in Baseball: What's Wrong with Spahn?

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS What's wrong with wonderful Warren? That question referring to Milwaukee's Warren Spahn pierced all baseball discussions today after the Braves' great left-hander absorbed another pounding, giving up 16 runs in six innings during a 16-6 loss to the Chicago Cubs at Mesa Sunday.

Spahn, who'll be 41 this month, has been one of the top pitchers in major league history with 309 victories in a career that started with the then Boston Braves in 1942. In five outings this spring Spahn has been the loser four times—he wasn't involved in the other decision—and has been tagged for 28 runs in 12 innings. Against the Cubs the 12-time 20-game winner was belted for a two-run homer by Ernie Banks and had another pitch driven out of the park by Lou Brock.

Brock, however, failed to touch home plate in his tour around the bases. Milwaukee catcher Joe Torre spotted the mental flub, called for the ball, got Brock out and saved Spahn further embarrassment.

The 20 hits struck by the Cubs against the Braves failed to reach the top production effort of the exhibition season. That came at Lakeland Sunday as the Kansas City A's rapped 22 hits in a 12-5 victory over Detroit. In other games, San Francisco defeated Boston 7-4 at Phoenix, Cleveland edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 6-5 at Las Vegas, St. Louis beat the New York Mets 7-4 in 10 innings at St. Petersburg and the Chicago White Sox beat Cincinnati 10-6 at Sarasota.

Against American Association minor league competition, the Los Angeles Angels nipped Dallas-Fort Worth 10-9 at Palm Springs, while Houston was belted by Oklahoma City 14-4 at Apache Junction. Philadelphia - Minnesota, Pittsburgh-Washington and Baltimore-New York Yankees were rained out.

After Spahn departed, Ken Hubbs added another homer for the Cubs — a grand slam. Hank Aaron paced the Braves with a single, double and home run No. 7. Leading the A's were Bill Bryan with two homers, and Dick Howser, who stroked five consecutive hits. Rocky Colavito hit two out of the park for the Tigers.

Felipe Alou accounted for four RBI with two homers and Orlando Cepeda had a homer in his 3-for-3 performance as the Giants beat the Red Sox for the first time in four meetings. Bubba Phillips gave the Indians an early lead with a two-run homer but they needed a sacrifice fly by Doc Edwards in the ninth to subdue the Dodgers.

Ed Bouchee brought the Mets from behind to tie with a two-out homer in the last of the ninth, but the Cards won it in the 10th as pinch hitter Red Schoendienst knocked in the winner with a single. Floyd Robinson's two-run double and triples by Al Smith and Joe Cunningham were the big hits in the White Sox' win over the Reds.

Warren Mehrtens, who rode Assault to victory in the Kentucky Derby, Preakness and Belmont in 1946, is now a patrol judge at New York thoroughbred tracks.

Logan Elm Lists Starters For Tuesday Tilt with Monroe

Vic Pontius, Logan Elm baseball coach, has announced a tentative starting line up for tomorrow's opener with Monroe.

Pontius has six starters returning from last year's squad that finished second to Ashville in both the county league and tournament. The Braves' overall record was nine wins and three losses. Two of the setbacks came at the hands of Ashville and the other one was suffered in district play against Licking Heights.

Starting pitcher tomorrow will be veteran Dick Dean. Jeff Lutz, a freshman, will be catcher. Bob Parker will start at first base and Ron Gabriel at second.

Pontius said Gene Jordan will probably get the call at third and Chuck Spangler at shortstop. Spangler also is listed as a starting pitcher and Lutz will be ready for relief.

IN THE outfield Pontius said his choice probably will be Dave Horn in left, Terry Garrett in center and Jim Harrell in right.

The Braves have some promising reserve strength in freshmen Mike Spangler, Jim Bowser, Larry Jordan and Bob Stant.

Pontius said pitching looks like the teams strongest position. If the Braves show any hitting attack this year he believes they will be a strong contender in both the Pickaway County league and tournament and in the Scioto Valley League, of which they are a member.

Pontius has announced the addition of the Scioto Valley league games to the schedule. On April 13 the Braves meet Paint Valley here. Then they go to Piketon on April 18 for a league game. Date of the tilt with Unioto will be announced later.

All of Logan Elm's home games will be played on the diamond at Pickaway school. Tomorrow's game will start at 4:15.

The Texas native who plays out of Sun City, Ariz., birdied the first hole of a sudden death playoff Sunday to beat red-haired Jerry Steelsmith, Glendale, Calif., and win the $20,000 Azalea Open tournament.

Earlier, it had been announced that an 18-hole playoff would be staged in the event of a tie. Marr, headed for Augusta, Ga., and the Masters, was anxious to clean up unfinished business here.

On the extra hole Marr hit "a three-quarter No. 8 iron" about three feet from the pin and ran in the put for a birdie three to win. Steelsmith's second, from the edge of the rough, stopped about 20 feet from the pin, but his putt rolled a foot by the hole.

Kentucky Tracks Set For Florida Sprinters

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The best of what horsemen consider only an ordinary crop of 3-year-olds, their Florida campaign virtually completed, headed for Kentucky today and the derby May 7, the first of the Triple Crown events.

Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan winner of Saturday's Florida Derby by a nose over Meadow Stable's fleet filly, Cicada, goes to Louisville. Half a dozen others will follow in the next three weeks.

Ridan, who earned $424,954 and has been out of the money only once in his 12 races, moved to the front among derby prospects.

Cicada came on again after Ridan caught her, and only the camera could separate them to the end. Time for the mile and an eighth was 1:50 2-5, against Gen. Duke's record of 1:46 4-5 in 1957. The mile and a quarter Kentucky Derby will be a far tougher assignment.

Admiral's Voyage, second to Royal Attack in the Santa Anita Derby and winner of the Louisiana Derby, was six lengths behind the first two. He also will go to Kentucky, as will Sharp Count, Black Beard, Boone Co., Good Fight and other also rans of Saturday.

Doctor Hank K., a surprising fourth, was not nominated for the Kentucky Derby but is eligible for the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, second and third events in the Triple Crown. Sharp Count and Boone Co. are nominated for the derby only.

Sunrise County and Prego, who ran one-two in the Flamingo Stakes in early March but finished in reverse order when Sunrise County was disqualified "for running wide in the stretch, have gone to New York. Decidedly, second to Sir Gaylord in the Everglades, missed both the Flamingo and Florida Derby because of illness and may not be ready for the Louisville feature.

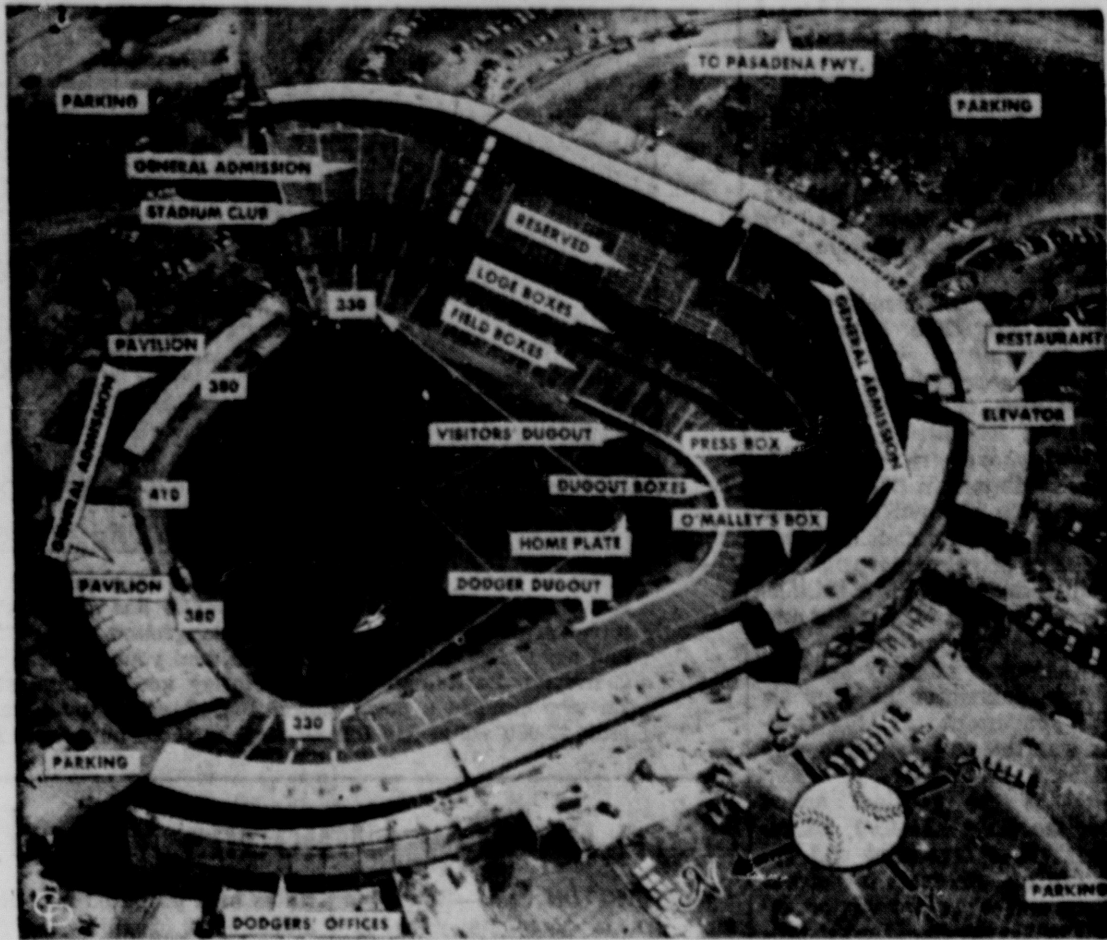

Sir Gaylord, early Kentucky Derby favorite after winning the Bahamas and Everglades in impressive style, has been on the shelf with an ankle injury ever since. Cicada, stablemate of Sir Gaylord, also is eligible for the Triple Crown events.

Three double eagles (three under par) were scored in PGA tournaments in 1961. Gene Cottenish got one at Phoenix, Paul McGuire shot one at Tucson and Dick Stranahan scored one at Portland, Ore.

Steers Blast Pipers in ABL Opener

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Kansas City Steers got the jump on Cleveland in the American Basketball League playoff by defeating the Pipers 126-115 in the opening game of the best-of-five series Sunday.

The second game will be played in Kansas City Tuesday night with the series moving to Cleveland for games Wednesday and Saturday nights. The fifth game, if necessary, probably will be played in Kansas City.

The Steers' front line of Larry Staverman, Gene Tormohlen and Bill Bridges, former University of Kansas star, playing his first year as a pro, set the pace with 38.

Connie Dierking, who moved to Cleveland from the NBA, and Dick Barnett each tallied 31 for the Pipers.

The Steers hit 46 of 79 shots from the field for 58.2 per cent. Cleveland made only 40 of 101 field shots for 39.6 per cent.

Jim Darrow of the Pipers, who was floored by a punch thrown by New York's Dan Swartz in the finals of the ABL's elimination playoff here Saturday, was in uniform following a trip to the hospital but failed to see action in Sunday's game.

NEW BUCK HERO?—Replacing Jerry Lucas, three-time All-American cager at Ohio State, takes some doing but the man who is supposed to do it is Gary Bradds (above), soph from Jamestown, O., who scored 15 points in the Bucks' loss to Cincinnati in the N.C.A.A. playoff. Bradds is 6'8" tall.

Kentucky Tracks Set For Florida Sprinters

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The best of what horsemen consider only an ordinary crop of 3-year-olds, their Florida campaign virtually completed, headed for Kentucky today and the derby May 7, the first of the Triple Crown events.

Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, winner of Saturday's Florida Derby by a nose over Meadow Stable's fleet filly, Cicada, goes to Louisville. Half a dozen others will follow in the next three weeks.

Ridan, who earned $424,954 and has been out of the money only once in his 12 races, moved to the front among derby prospects.

Cicada came on again after Ridan caught her, and only the camera could separate them to the end. Time for the mile and an eighth was 1:50 2-5, against Gen. Duke's record of 1:46 4-5 in 1957. The mile and a quarter Kentucky Derby will be a far tougher assignment.

Admiral's Voyage, second to Royal Attack in the Santa Anita Derby and winner of the Louisiana Derby, was six lengths behind the first two. He also will go to Kentucky, as will Sharp Count, Black Beard, Boone Co., Good Fight and other also rans of Saturday.

Doctor Hank K., a surprising fourth, was not nominated for the Kentucky Derby but is eligible for the Preakness and Belmont Stakes, second and third events in the Triple Crown. Sharp Count and Boone Co. are nominated for the derby only.

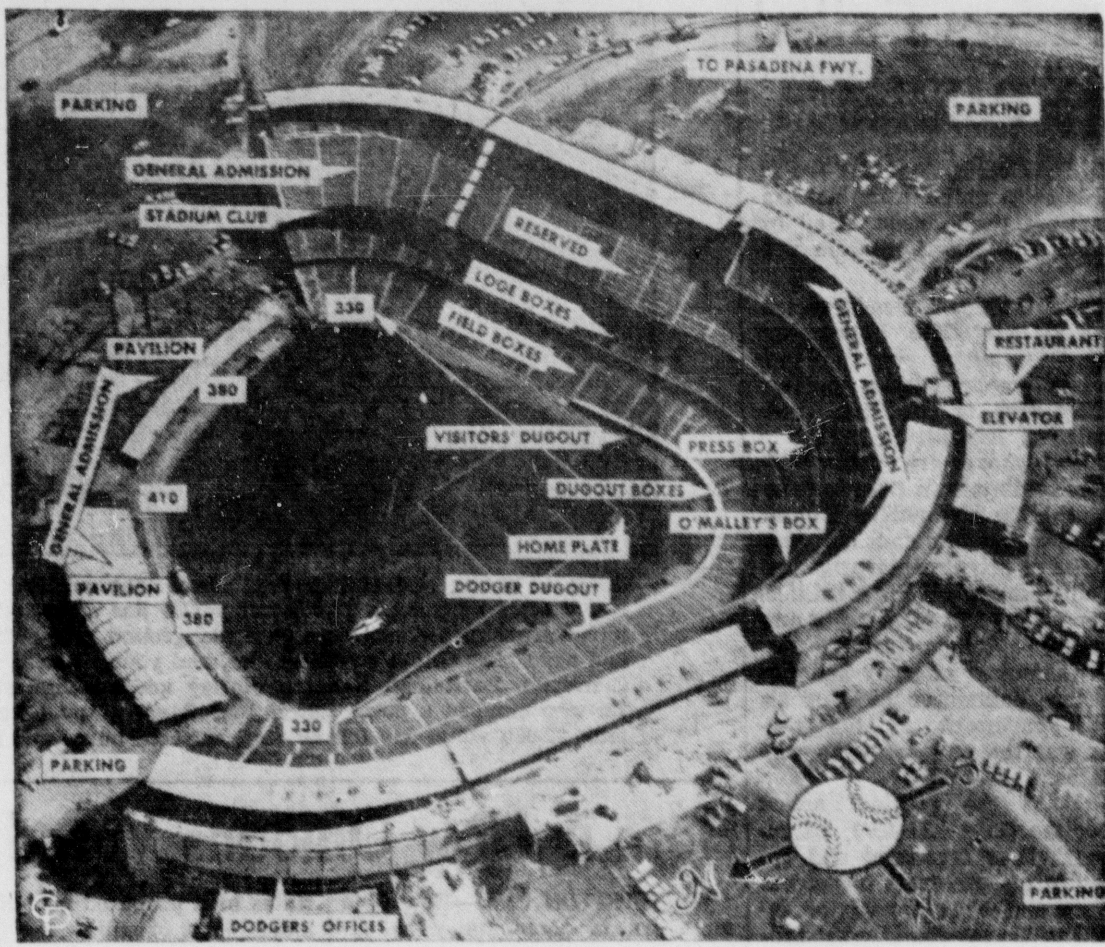

Sunrise County and Prego, who ran one-two in the Flamingo Stakes in early March but finished in reverse order when Sunrise County was disqualified for running wide in the stretch, have gone to New York. Decidedly, second to Sir Gaylord in the Everglades, missed both the Flamingo and Florida Derby because of illness and may not be ready for the Louisville feature.

Sir Gaylord, early Kentucky Derby favorite after winning the Bahamas and Everglades in impressive style, has been on the shelf with an ankle injury ever since. Cicada, stablemate of Sir Gaylord, also is eligible for the Triple Crown events.

Three double eagles (three under par) were scored in PGA tournaments in 1961. Gene Cotechonis got one at Phoenix, Paul McGuire shot one at Tucson and Dick Stranahan scored one at Portland, Ore.

Steers Blast Pipers in ABL Opener

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—The Kansas City Steers got the jump on Cleveland in the American Basketball League playoff by defeating the Pipers 126-115 in the opening game of the best-of-five series Sunday.

The second game will be played in Kansas City Tuesday night with the series moving to Cleveland for games Wednesday and Saturday nights. The fifth game, if necessary, probably will be played in Kansas City.

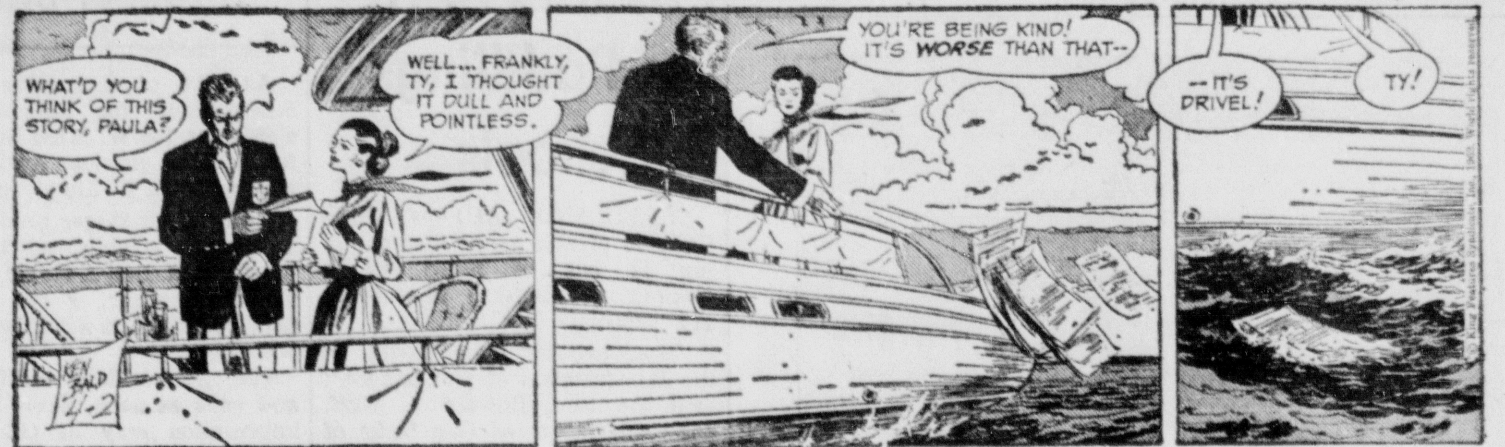

The Steers' front line of Larry Staverman, Gene Tormohlen and Bill Bridges accounted for 82 points. Bridges, former University of Kansas star, playing his first year as a pro, set the pace with 36.

Connie Dierking, who moved to Cleveland from the NBA, and Dick Barnett each tallied 31 for the Pipers.

The Steers hit 46 of 79 shots from the field for 58.2 per cent. Cleveland made only 40 of 101 field shots for 39.6 per cent.

Jim Darrow of the Pipers, who was floored by a punch thrown by New York's Dan Swartz in the finals of the ABL's elimination playoff here Saturday, was in uniform following a trip to the hospital but failed to see action in Sunday's game.

Hiss Points to Vindication; Nixon Aide Claims Error

NEW YORK (AP) — Alger Hiss says a statement in a new book by Richard M. Nixon should help vindicate him of perjury charges that sent him to prison more than a decade ago.

But a spokesman for the former vice president said in Los Angeles that the statement was the result of a researcher's error that slipped by Nixon when he checked the manuscript.

The statement, which appears in the book "Six Crises," says that FBI agents had obtained Hiss' old typewriter which was a central factor in the former State Department employee's controversial trials.

Hiss described this Sunday night as a flat contradiction of past government contentions.

Hiss was convicted in 1950 of perjury for denying he passed government secrets to a confessed Soviet spy courier, the late Whittaker Chambers. Nixon was the chief congressional investigator of Hiss.

The Nixon statement was first cited in an article by Fred J. Cook in the current issue of the Nation magazine.

Cook quoted from the book: "On December 13 (1948), FBI agents found the typewriter. On December 15, the critical last day, an expert from the FBI typed exact copies of the incriminating documents on the old Woodstock machine and had them flown up to New York as exhibits for the members of the grand jury to see."

Cook recalled that a government affidavit by the late Assistant FBI Director Earl J. Connelley opposing a Hiss motion for a new trial had sworn that the FBI "does not have in its possession and never did have in its possession any typewriter known, believed, or considered to be the Woodstock machine" owned by Hiss.

It was Hiss' defense counsel who, on April 16, 1949, obtained the typewriter the defense later put in evidence. As Hiss put it, "It wasn't the typewriter itself, but a fake that was planted on us."

An unidentified spokesman for Nixon issued a statement to the Los Angeles Times Sunday night, saying it was prepared after a conference with Nixon.

"At the time of the grand jury proceedings in December 1948 — which were of course, secret — there were reports to the effect that the FBI had found the old Hiss Woodstock typewriter. However, the typewriter was not actually found and produced in evidence until the time of Hiss' first trial for perjury," the statement said.

"On Dec. 13, 1948, the FBI experts conclusively demonstrated that certain of the secret State Department documents and a letter that Mrs. Hiss admittedly typed on the Woodstock had been typed on the same machine."

The statement added that "the FBI also uncovered other specimens of typing made on the Woodstock" and that these "also checked out conclusively with the typewritten State Department documents. It was this evidence that resulted in the grand jury indictment of Alger Hiss on Dec. 15, 1948."

The spokesman said the researcher made the error in saying "that the typewriter was found when in fact it should have been that letters were produced before the grand jury."

"This is a simple error of fact and it will be corrected in the next edition" of the book, the spokesman said.

Hiss said it was his theory that Chambers or someone representing him must have obtained access to the typewriter in order to type the incriminating documents.

Hiss, who served 44 months of a 5-year sentence and was released in 1954, currently is living in New York and works as a salesman for a printing and stationery supply firm.

Priests Frown On Paddlings In Schools

CLEVELAND (AP) — Three Catholic priests agree that paddling is out of place as a disciplinary measure in secondary schools.

"Man beating man should be the last instance of punishment," said the Rev. Howard J. Wolf, assistant pastor of Our Lady of Lourdes parish and a teacher in the parish high school.

"I don't know how effective paddling in high school can be," said Rev. Robert W. Donohoe, director of Elyria District Catholic High School. "This is the age where pupils become sensitive. A teenager wants to be corrected, but if he is paddled, he gets rebellious."

"Serious corporal punishment should be restricted to the home," said the Rev. Eugene V. Kane, director of the Diocesan News Bureau and an instructor at Nazareth Academy.

The three priests formed a panel discussing juvenile discipline and delinquency Sunday on the program "Moral View" over WJW-TV.

Ohio Trade Leaders Called Into Politics

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Executives of 60 major trade associations were called upon today for political spadework in Ohio precincts.

Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the Ohio Information Committee, issued the challenge in a talk prepared for a luncheon meeting here of the Ohio Trade Association Executives today.

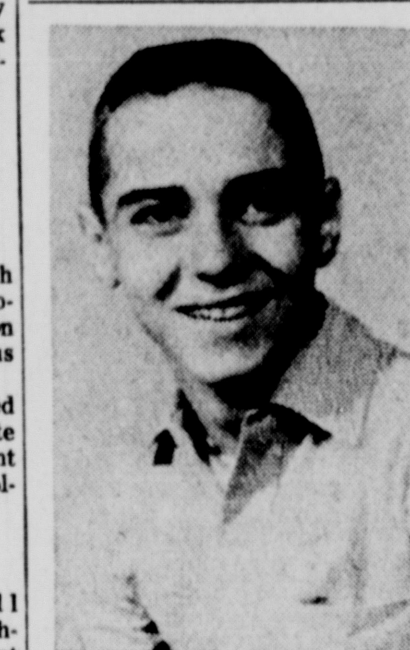

"Those who desire a favorable economic climate in Ohio and believe it is in the public interest to achieve and maintain our free, competitive private enterprise system must shake off their political apathy and get busy in their own precincts," Milligan said.

The Columbus attorney and former state commerce director asserted spadework in the precincts was the only effective way to "cope with COPE."

COPE is the political action arm of the Ohio AFL-CIO, he explained. "It is organized and operating in the precincts to get out the vote and elect candidates favorable to the special interest program of the AFL-CIO," he added.

"The key to Ohio's future is balance — economically and politically. That balance must be restored at the ballot box."

Milligan termed the Ohio Information Committee (OIC) a non-partisan organization of businessmen operating continuously since 1957.

LONGVIEW, Wash. (AP)—The Longview Park Board worked out a plan for controlling the noisy crows in the city park.

The plan was to place whole-kernel corn—soaked in alcohol—out in crow-infested areas. The crows were to become intoxicated and the park superintendent was to pick them up when they fell over in a stupor.

The board hasn't put the plan into operation, though. The crows vanished about the time the system was suggested.

Ohio Trade Leaders Called Into Politics

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Executives of 60 major trade associations were called upon today for political spadework in Ohio precincts.

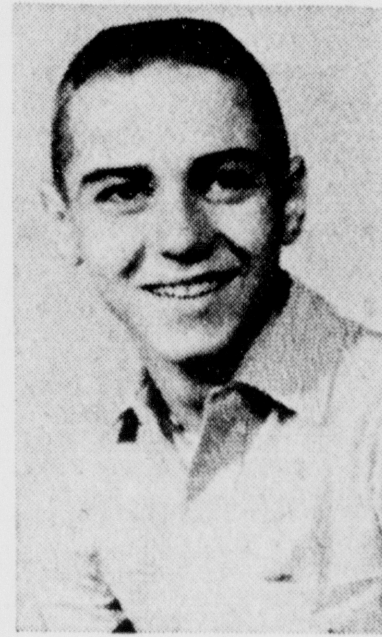

Fred J. Milligan, executive secretary of the Ohio Information Committee, issued the challenge in a talk prepared for a luncheon meeting here of the Ohio Trade Association Executives today.

"Those who desire a favorable economic climate in Ohio and believe it is in the public interest to achieve and maintain our free, competitive private enterprise system must shake off their political apathy and get busy in their own precincts," Milligan said.

The Columbus attorney and former state commerce director asserted spadework in the precincts was the only effective way to "cope with COPE."

COPE is the political action arm of the Ohio AFL-CIO, he explained. "It is organized and operating in the precincts to get out the vote and elect candidates favorable to the special interest program of the AFL-CIO," he added. "The key to Ohio's future is balance—economically and politically. That balance must be restored at the ballot box."

Milligan termed the Ohio Information Committee (OIC) a non-partisan organization of businessmen operating continuously since 1957.

BOYS AT PLAY... ELECTRICITY... In Covington, Ky., Clarence Seay, 9, is alive miraculously after touching a 13,000-volt power line while seeking to retrieve a ball that bounded into a transformer enclosure on a playground. He suffered burns on hands, legs, arms and head. His father comforts him, and young Clarence looks mightily tucked out. In Cleveland, Patrolman Kenneth Morley keeps a vigil at hospital bedside of son Michael, 12, who climbed a power tower to retrieve a toy parachute, touched a power line and took 22,000 volts. He fell 60 feet, suffered burns and his left arm had to be amputated.
